

MONTENEGRAN TROOPS AGAIN DEFEAT TURKS

CAPTURE TURKISH FORTRESS AFTER DRIVING MOSLEMS FROM DETCHITCH MOUNTAIN.

GRECIAN CABINET MET

Indications Are That Greece Will Declare War Against Turkey—German Bourse Affected By Situation.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Podgoritz, Montenegro, Oct. 11.—The Montenegrans followed up their success in capturing Detchitch Mountain from the Turks by taking last evening the Turkish fortress which dominates the town of Tush, from Schipinac Hill.
The Turks offered a stubborn resistance but the Montenegrans succeeded in rushing the position after several furious assaults that the Turks repulsed.
Both forces suffered heavy losses in killed and wounded. The fighting lasted 14 hours.

Rushing Troops.
Constantinople, Oct. 11.—A wireless dispatch from a steamer in the Dardanelles says: "No fewer than 140,000 troops from Asia Minor will be estimated, be concentrated within the week in European Turkey."

This will bring the effective force of the Turkish army there up to 500,000 men. Turkish officials say that the military depots are full of stores and the military equipment is complete and of good quality.

If the Bulgarians are counting on the superiority of their organization and the greater rapidity with which their army can be mobilized, which will give them a material advantage, they will receive a great surprise according to the Turkish officials.

The Ottoman authorities have for months past been strengthening their defenses and concentrating troops in the important zone comprising Adrianople and Kirkkilisseh, just south of the Bulgarian frontier. Since the general mobilization was ordered, a great stream of men has been pouring into the district at the rate of 20,000 daily.

Capture Blockhouse.
St. Petersburg, Oct. 11.—A dispatch from Podgoritz, Montenegro says the Montenegrans southern army under the command of General Martinovich had crossed the River Boyana and captured several Turkish blockhouses at Tarakosk, near the town of Scutari.

Grecian Cabinet Meets.
Athens, Oct. 11.—All the indications here point to war. A cabinet meeting lasting several hours was held this morning under the presidency of the king, Prince George, the wife of Prince Andrew of Greece, has decided to leave at once for the frontier with a number of nurses.

Hopes For Peace.
Vienna, Austria, Oct. 11.—Emperor Francis Joseph in the course of a conversation with a prominent personage at the palace yesterday said: "I hope that peace may still be preserved."

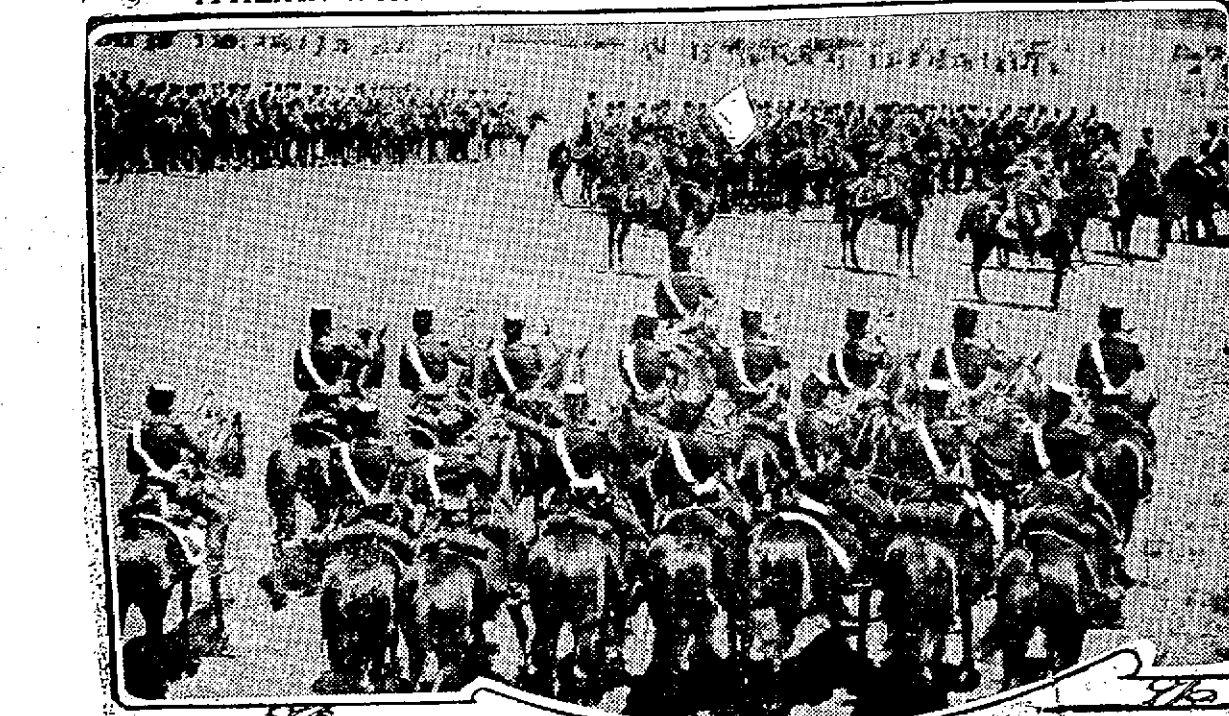

Still Fighting.
Constantinople, Oct. 11.—Fighting between the Turkish and the Montenegrans was still in progress this morning in the region of Tush to the north of Scutari.

War Affects Market.
Berlin, Oct. 11.—The uncertainty of the Balkan situation caused an all round decline of from 6 to 10 points on the Berlin bourse today. Canadian Pacific fell 4 points.

Has Funds.
Paris, Oct. 11.—Turkey declares that she has all the armament she wants while the war pacts recently imposed by the Ottoman government is declared to be sufficient to carry on the war according to a dispatch from Constantinople to the Temps.

Servia's Answer.
Belgrade, Serbia, Oct. 11.—Servia's reply to the powers is to be delivered tomorrow simultaneously with the Bulgarian and Greek replies according to the Stampa. The latest information of their contents is to offer the effect that the proposals contain insufficient guarantees that the necessary reforms in the Turkish provinces will be obtained.

TURKEY RUSHES TROOPS TO THE FRONT; SOLDIERS FRESH FROM ITALIAN WAR GO TO MEET GREEKS AND THE BALKAN ALLIES

Turkish cavalry leaving Constantinople. There is great military activity at Constantinople, which city is now under martial law. Troops are being rushed to the front, several regiments having already departed. Many of the troops who are now on their way to meet the Greeks and the armies of the allied Balkan states, have just returned from the war. They are seasoned soldiers, believed to be more than a match for the Greeks and Balkan peoples. The only little about the art of war.

RED SOX TAKE GAME THREE TO ONE SCORE

Hand the Giants Back Some of Their Own Medicine on the Polo Grounds.

Polo Ground, New York, Oct. 11.—Thousands of New York baseball enthusiasts indifferent to the sudden clouds which threatened rain, flocked to the polo grounds to see the fourth game of the world's series between the New York Nationals and the Boston Americans.

The national commission did not decide to play the game until a few minutes before noon when umpire O'Laughlin reported that while the playing field was very soggy, the game could be played if no more rain fell. 10,000 fans waited for hours until the game began, in line for many blocks from the Brush stadium.

Uncertain weather faced the Giants and Red Sox as they returned to the polo grounds today with honors even prepared for the fourth game in the struggle for the world's championship baseball.

The close match in this most sensational of contests between the American and National league pennant winners had excited unprecedented interest in the outcome and the result was every indication that even with fair conditions a record-breaking crowd would be on hand today. The probable batting order was as follows:

Boston: Hooper, rf; Speaker, cf; Lewis, lf; Yerkes, 2b; Gardner, 3b; Stahl, 1b; Wagner, ss; Cady, catcher; and Wood, pitcher.

New York: Devore, lf; Snodgrass, cf; Murray, rf; Merkle, 1b; Doyle, 2b; Herzog, 3b; Fletcher, ss; Meyers, catcher; and Tesreau, pitcher.

The Boston contingent of rooters became not a whit less confident because of yesterday's defeat. The break of the game in a bit of unfortunate coaching and a remarkable catch at a crucial point had gone against them they argued.

With the possible exception of Speaker, and his lameness had no apparent effect on his playing, the men on both teams were in fine form for a renewal of the struggle, the rival managers declared today. Betting was even.

Social Service is Theme of Congregation Meeting.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Oberlin, O., Oct. 11.—With "Social Service and Personal Evangelism" as its central theme, the Congregational Brotherhood of America began its fifth annual convention here today. The sessions will last three days and will be participated in by many prominent ministers and lay members of the denomination from all over the country. Scheduled among the speakers are Dr. Washington Gladden of Columbus, President Henry Churchill King of Oberlin College, Prof. Graham Taylor of Chicago, Raymond Robins, the social economist, and Owen Lovejoy of New York.

TAKE NEW EVIDENCE IN DYNAMITE CASES; GOMPERS MENTIONED

Pieces of Explosives Introduced by Government at Indianapolis Trial—Seek to Entangle Gompers.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Indianapolis Ind., Oct. 11.—Pieces of explosives, bombs, old tin cans in which nitro-glycerin had been carried, cartridges, fuses, and magazine guns, were put in readiness for evidence by the government today to be used as exhibits in the "dynamite conspiracy" trial.

Gathered from many sections of the country in the wake of C. E. McManigal and the McNamaras, they have been classified by Clarence E. Nichols, assistant district attorney, and are to be used as physical evidence in the government's charge of illegal interstate transportation of explosives.

Six hundred and twenty have been listed. They are to be presented to the jury one by one and include two magazine guns, a rifle, fuses, and alarm clock attachments for bombs, taken from the valises of McManigal and Jos. B. McNamara when they were arrested in Detroit on April 12, 1911.

Fuses, alarm clocks and dynamite boxes taken from the valises of the international association of bridge and structural iron workers, when J. J. McNamara, then secretary of the association was arrested in Indianapolis on April 22, 1911.

A fibroid suit case made in Cincinnati for carrying nitro-glycerin which Henry W. Leggett, now of Denver, is alleged to have carried from Pittsburgh to the iron workers headquarters in Indianapolis. Nitro-glycerin cans found near a portion of a bridge over the Missouri river at Kansas City, Mo., which McManigal blew up August 23, 1910.

Suit case in which McManigal carried dynamite and which bears stains of having been placed on a radiator. McManigal said he had put it on the radiator of his home in Chicago to thaw out the dynamite and when he returned he found his little girl on the floor playing with the explosives.

A shawl strap in which George (Hipper) Anderson, Cleveland is the defendant, in the charge of carrying a dynamite box to the suburb of Cleveland. Parts of an infernal machine found in the home of F. J. Zeehan, who has Los Angeles, on the morning the Los Angeles Times' building was blown up.

The original bill for $1.63 paid for the aluminum letters used by J. E. McNamara and his accomplices in changing the name "Pastime" to "Poetess" on the launch in which the explosives used at Los Angeles were brought into San Francisco Bay.

MAN DROWNED WHEN AUTO OVERTURNED

Appleton Man Killed at Green Bay When Machine He Was Driving Went Over Embankment.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Green Bay, Wis., Oct. 11.—Louis G. Kirchner, of Appleton, was killed, Meta Markhart was probably fatally hurt and Miss Clarice Meek was slightly injured when an automobile driven by Kirchner went over an embankment along East River. The car was overturned and the occupants were pinned underneath it. Kirchner who was driving was drowned, but the two girls were revived after being taken from the water. The girls are waitresses at a local hotel.

FOOTBALL PLAYER BROKE SHOULDER IN SCRIMMAGE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Oshkosh, Wis., Oct. 11.—Don McCray, halfback of the Oshkosh high school football team broke his left shoulder in a scrimmage against the Oshkosh Normal eleven yesterday afternoon with the result that the high school is considerably crippled tomorrow for its game at Grand Rapids, with the Grand Rapids high school.

ATTEMPTED HOLD-UP BY TRAIN ROBBERS FAILED; MEN FLED

Express Messenger Saved Valuable Packages and Fought Robbers Until Ammunition Gave Out and Was Badly Beaten.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Fort Smith, Oct. 11.—Four bandits bungled the holdup of a north bound Kansas City Southern passenger train between Hatfield and Mena, Ark., early today. One was wounded and captured and the other outlaws escaped after a revolver fight with express messenger Merrill Burgett of Kansas City, Mo., in which Burgett exhausted his ammunition and was badly beaten.

Burgett shot the robber who was discovered an hour later after his companions had deserted him. The robber is being conveyed to Mena. He probably will die. An armed posse are pursuing the bandits, while Burgett is in a hospital at Mena, where it is said he will recover.

The train known as No. 2 left Hatfield, Ark., about 2 a. m. While Burgett was working in his car he saw the bandit climbing up the side door. They then smashed the glass with their revolver butts. Burgett sprang to his most valuable packages and hid them despite the hail of the bullets poured into the car.

Once, the messenger says a bullet pierced his shirt. The packages hidden, Burgett turned his attention to the invaders who now had abandoned for a short time their firing into the car. As Burgett fired at them the robbers reached through the smashed window and loosened the catch which held the door from the inside.

Then they opened the door and sprang into the car one by one, firing on Burgett as they advanced. The messenger leaped behind baggage and met the robbers' fire shot for shot. The train was going about 30 miles an hour. A last shot fired by Burgett before the robbers gained the inside of the car wounded one of them.

The fight continued hot, but soon Burgett's cartridges were gone. The robbers closed in on him, and by sheer force of number overpowered him, although he gave battle to the three wielding the butt of his gun effectively until conquered. The bandits clubbed the messenger repeatedly asking, "where is that package of money?"

Bleeding Burgett crouched in a corner of the car while the robbers brutally beat and kicked him, but he did not reveal the hiding place. The bandits carefully searched the car, but Burgett had been too wily for them so they applied the air brakes and made another careful search.

By this time the train conductor fearing something was amiss began investigation. The conductor came forward with his lantern the robbers took flight and fled. In answer to the conductor's repeated knocking on the door of the express car Burgett struggled to his feet unlocked the door then fainted.

He was revived long enough to give a brief sketch of the attempted hold-up and the train was rushed into Mena. A posse was rushed to pursue the robbers into the hills. Near Fort Smith, the wounded robber was found. So far as is known the outlaws obtained no booty.

TESTIFIED TO FUNDS COLLECTED IN 1904

Edward Stotesbury, Associate of Morgan, Says He Collected Money For The Campaign.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, Oct. 11.—Edward T. Stotesbury, of Philadelphia, banker and associate of J. P. Morgan testified before the Ciapp committee today that he had collected $165,795.50 in Pennsylvania in 1904 for the republican national campaign, all the money going to the national committee. Fred W. Upham, of Chicago, said he knew nothing of the 1904 campaign funds. In 1908 he was in charge of the western campaign with headquarters at Chicago and collected $548,326.00 in addition to that he received $50,000 from Charles B. Taft, and returned it at the end of the campaign. Frank L. Smith of Dwight, Ill., manager of the Illinois Taft campaign in the re-convention fight said he received $20,000 from the Taft club of Illinois and $18,000 from Director McKinley from the national bureau at Washington.

F. T. Schwedman, of Springfield, Ill., president of the National Association of Manufacturers said in 1903 most manufacturers in the association favored President Taft. He said the records of the association in the west showed no contribution, but that the New York books might.

At the conclusion of the examination Mr. Schwedman, the committee took a recess until Monday.

GENERAL ELECTIONS THROUGHOUT NATION THREE WEEKS HENCE

All States Excepting Maine and Vermont to Vote for Members of House of Representatives.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Washington, D. C., Oct. 11.—Three weeks from next Tuesday the voters of the entire country will go to the polls to express their preferences for President and Vice President of the United States. The states of the Union, with the exception of Maine and Vermont, will vote on the same day for members of the house of representatives of the Sixty-third Congress. The two states excepted have already held their elections.

On November 5 state officers will be elected in all of the states excepting Ark., Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Rhode Island, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Utah, Washington, West Virginia, Wisconsin and Wyoming. In the other states in which elections are to be held only minor officials are to be selected.

In many of the states legislatures will be elected November 5, which will choose successors to United States senators whose terms expire March 4, 1913. The senators whose terms will end next March and whose successors have already been selected or will be named within the next few months are as follows:

Jefferson Davis (D), Arkansas; Simon Guggenheim (R), Colorado; H. A. Richardson (D), Delaware; Augustus O. Bacon (D), Georgia; William E. Borah (R), Idaho; Shelby M. Cullom (R), Illinois; William S. Kenyon (R), Iowa; Charles Curtis (R), Kansas; T. H. Paynter (D), Kentucky; Murphy J. Foster (D), Louisiana; Obadiah Gardner (D), Maine; Winthrop M. Crane (R), Massachusetts; William A. Smith (R), Michigan; Knute Nelson (R), Minnesota; Le Roy Percy (D), Mississippi; Joseph H. Dixon (R), Montana; Norris Brown (R), Nebraska; H. E. Burnham (R), New Hampshire; Frank O. Briggs (R), New Jersey; L. Simmons (D), North Carolina; Robert L. Owen (D), Oklahoma; Jonathan Bourne, Jr. (R), Oregon; George P. Wetmore (R), Rhode Island; Benjamin R. Tillman (D), South Carolina; J. T. Gamble (D), South Dakota; Newell Saunders (R), Tennessee; Joseph W. Bailey (D), Texas; Thomas S. Martin (D), Virginia; C. W. Watson (D), West Virginia; and Francis E. Warren (R), Wyoming.

Of the senators named in the foregoing list only five are assured of the fact that they will sit in the upper branch of Congress after March 4 next. They are Davis of Arkansas; Bacon of Georgia; Owen of Oklahoma; Tillman of South Carolina and Martin of Virginia. All five come from states that are solidly Democratic and as the Democrats in each of the states have voted for the return of the senator his re-election in each case is assured.

In many of the older states it is equally certain that the incumbent will not be returned to the senate. Senators Guggenheim of Colorado, Crane of Massachusetts, Bailey of Texas and Wetmore of Rhode Island decline to become candidates for another term. Bailey of Texas will be succeeded by Congressman Morris Sheppard, Colorado voters of all parties have expressed their preferences in the primary for the successor of Senator Guggenheim and also for the successor of the late Senator Rhodes. In Massachusetts and Rhode Island the selections are yet to be made.

The fate of Senator Richardson of Delaware is in doubt. Borah of Idaho has been indicted for re-election by his own party. Curtis of Illinois was defeated in the primaries. His successor will be L. Y. Sherman (R) or J. Hamilton Lewis (D). Senator Kenyon has been named for re-election by the Republicans of Iowa; Curtis of Kansas was defeated in the primaries. He will be succeeded by Governor Stubbs (R) or Hugh Farrelly (D). Ollie James has been named to succeed Senator Paynter of Kentucky. Senator Foster of Louisiana will be succeeded by Congressman Joseph E. Ransdell. Senator Gardner (D), of Maine, will give way to former Congressman Edwin C. Burleigh (R). Senator William Alden Smith has been indicted for re-election by Michigan Republicans. If the Democrats control the next legislature Senator Smith's successor will be Alfred Lucking of Detroit. Knute Nelson of Minnesota has been renominated by the Republicans. If the legislature goes Democratic his successor will be Daniel Lawler of St. Paul. Senator Percy of Mississippi already has given way to former Governor Vardaman. The re-election of Dixon of Montana depends upon the success of the third party in his state, which party has indicted him. The regular Republicans have picked another candidate in the field. Senator Norris Brown of Nebraska was defeated in the Republican primaries by Congressman George W. Norris. In the event of Democratic success in Nebraska the next senator will be former Governor Shallenbarger. Senator Briggs is the choice of New Jersey Republicans for re-election. In the event of Democratic success the Briggs toga will fall upon the shoulders of former Congressman Hughes. Senator Simmons of North Carolina will have to win out in a hot three-cornered fight. Senator Bourn of Oregon was defeated in the primaries but may seek re-election as an independent. Thomas Sterling is the choice of South Dakota Republicans to succeed Senator Gamble. The activity of the Progressives, however, has badly muddled the South Dakota situation and it is doubtful who will control the legislature. Tennessee will take a preference vote on the regular election day, November 5, to decide who shall succeed Newell Saunders, the Republican appointed of Governor Hooper, in the senate. The successor of Senator Watson of West Virginia is yet to be decided. Senator Warren of Wyoming has been renominated by the Republicans. John B. Kendrick has been endorsed by the Democrats.

FLYNN OPENS HEALTH CAMPAIGN WITH TALK TO STUDENTS TODAY

GIVES ENTHUSIASTIC ADDRESS AND DEMONSTRATION EXERCISES AT HIGH SCHOOL.

Will Present Plea for Healthy Bodies in Series of Addresses to Begin Sunday and Continuing Through Thursday.

STIRRING UP INTEREST

Bursting with enthusiasm for his cause, anxious to clearly present his subject and arouse interest, W. E. Flynn of Berkeley, Cal., the famous health lecturer, struck straight from the shoulder in beginning his hygienic campaign in Janesville with an address to the high school students this morning.

Mr. Flynn is a what might be termed as a speaker of action, and he is as good as any vanderbilt show that you ever paid a dollar to see. But the best of it is that he has something important to present and never fails to arouse interest in his plan.

SECOND CHAPTER OF LA FOLLETTE'S STORY

How Roosevelt Betrayed Wisconsin Senator Made Public Today in His Magazine.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., Oct. 11.—The story of how Roosevelt betrayed La Follette in the race for the presidential nomination is told in this week's issue of La Follette's Weekly Magazine. Last week's chapter only laid the foundation. According to Senator La Follette, Roosevelt urged him to lead the progressive cause, and then when he saw La Follette's candidacy was succeeding, he undermined it in order to grab the nomination for himself.

After the colonel's tour of the west early in 1911, writes La Follette, Roosevelt decided that the progressives should put forth a candidate against Taft. Gilson Gardner, the newspaper correspondent, came to La Follette, bearing this message from Roosevelt:

"That I (La Follette) should be that candidate, and that I should get into the fight at once."

La Follette, said the colonel, was the natural leader of the progressives, for he had done the pioneer work. Roosevelt could not—so the message ran—openly advocate La Follette's candidacy against Taft, but he would commend La Follette's work in the Outlook and help as he could, from time to time.

On April 30, a conference of progressives was held in Washington. All agreed that they should unite on a candidate, to concentrate the movement.

"There is but one man who should be considered," said Senator Cummins, "and that is Senator La Follette." Cummins, the Senator adds, he'd pledged his own support.

La Follette, however, hesitated. "I estimated my own worth to the progressive cause too highly," he says, "to consent to being used as a candidate for a time and then, to serve some ulterior purpose, conveniently broken and cast upon the scrap heap."

La Follette, however, hesitated. "I estimated my own worth to the progressive cause too highly," he says, "to consent to being used as a candidate for a time and then, to serve some ulterior purpose, conveniently broken and cast upon the scrap heap."

He feared that the movement might be "shifted for political expediency to some other candidate." He believed that, as the campaign advanced, either Taft's weakness was revealed, or perhaps Cummins or Roosevelt might, perhaps both, might then be tempted to thrust in, thus dividing progressive strength and defeating real progress.

About October 1911, a friend of Roosevelt, who up to this time has been for La Follette, visited Oyster Bay. Returning he went to the Senator and reported.

"Roosevelt is not only surprised at the development of your candidacy, but he is disappointed as well." He added, says La Follette, Roosevelt wants to be president again but you know it has heretofore been his judgment that Taft could not be beaten."

Roosevelt now seemed to consider La Follette in the way.

Then came a conference of Finchel and others with Roosevelt, as a result of which La Follette was informed that Roosevelt would not make a public announcement to that effect; that La Follette should go ahead and if he could not win the nomination in the convention, then Roosevelt might possibly step in as a candidate; but meantime "the wires should not be crossed."

The wires, however, seems to have got badly crossed. According to La Follette, they crossed even in headquarters at Washington, where Medill McCormick—so he charges—after volunteering his services, side-tracked an important article telling of La Follette's record, intended for campaign distribution, and tried to send out, instead, an article written by himself, praising Roosevelt. The senator gives many instances of alleged betrayal.

JANE ADDAMS TO DEBATE SUFFRAGE IN NEW YORK

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
New York, Oct. 11.—Miss Jane Addams of Hull House, Chicago, will uphold the progressive cause in a three-cornered political debate to be held in Carnegie Hall tomorrow night under the auspices of the Civic Forum.

The opponents of Miss Addams will be ex-Congressman William S. Bonnet representing the Republican party, and Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, who will speak for the Democratic party.

ROOSEVELT STARTS ON HIS INVASION OF WISCONSIN

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 11.—Colonel Roosevelt arrived here from Duluth at 6:20 this morning and remained until 8:30 when he left for Oshkosh, Wis., where he is scheduled to speak tonight.

Bryan in Minnesota.
St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 11.—W. J. Bryan is invading Minnesota today. He left Grand Forks this morning making several rear platform speeches on his way to the Twin Cities where he is expected to make two speeches tonight.

W. E. FLYNN.

Mr. Flynn comes here through the Gazette and the pastors of Janesville and will conduct a campaign in Janesville, and continuing every evening through next Thursday.

Young People To Help.
"I want you young people to help in this movement and why? Because you are proud of the Janesville High," said Mr. Flynn this morning. "Instead of telling you what a beautiful city you have and all that kind of rot I'm going to start right in and show you what I'm here for."

"If you boys and girls get an education you want to know this body of yours from your hair to your toes. When you get your sheepskin and walk out onto the street knowing everything, what will you say when you are asked, 'What exercise have you for the hair? What exercise have you for the eyes? What exercise have you for the catarrh? What exercise have you for your heart, for your liver, for your lungs?'"

Need Healthy Bodies.
"What you young people want is pride in yourselves, and in your school. Why who are you anyway? You are from the Janesville High," and Mr. Flynn, strutting across the platform in an exaggeration of a proud strut.

He went on to say that a healthy body was absolutely essential to successful study, as well as a success work in every walk of life. It was easy to have a sound, well body, and he declared he could show every student in the room, how to do it in about three minutes.

Taking off his coat he rolled up his sleeves and showed his arm perfectly developed, the skin soft and velvety, and this in spite of the fact that Mr. Flynn is over seventy years old.

Don't Eat So Much.
"The trouble with a lot of us, we eat too much," declared Mr. Flynn. "I used to eat six or seven meals a day and I was a perfect broomstick. And I'll tell you another thing, a skinny body means a skinny mind. Why, you people think through your skin. Have a well nourished, well conditioned, well trained body with a good head on top and you will feel fine, ready to tackle any kind of a problem your teachers can put up to you."

"What the matter with some of us is, we clug our systems with too much meat, too much beans, cheese, eggs, and protein muscle-making foods. And then if we take a lot of tea and coffee and smoke a lot of tobacco, it simply means that we have got to suffer for it."

Six Baths A Day.
"And every time you take a bath you increase your brain power four and a half percent. What every person needs is six baths a day. I told the students that down at Beloit last night and one boy stood aghast. 'Take six baths a day? Who ever heard of such a thing?' That's easy enough. You take an air, a sun and a friction bath first, there's three and they will take you just about five minutes; then, you take three and a cold bath, the best of all, the hot and the cold baths, and there you have your six."

Put on Some Stunts.

FINE LUNCHEON AT STATE INSTITUTION

Three Hundred and Fifty Club Women Enjoyed Social Event Wednesday Noon—Miss Jeffris' Reception.

Three hundred and fifty Wisconsin club women were pleasantly entertained at a reception and luncheon given by Prin. and Mrs. J. T. Hooper and members of the faculty at the state school for the blind on Wednesday. The event was one of the most enjoyable social functions of the convention week.

Automobiles furnished by the Janesville business men carried the delegates to the school. The arrangements for the cars were made by A. E. Kemmerer and Fred Howe who secured ample accommodations for transportation.

The guests were received in the principal's quarters and were escorted to the symposium which had been converted into a dining hall. Decorations of cut flowers and autumn leaves were most artistic. The guests were seated in groups of ten. The food was all prepared under the direction of the domestic science department of the school, and members of the Art League and Philomathian clubs assisted in the serving.

During the luncheon hour the blind school orchestra gave a very pleasing program which was cordially applauded. Mrs. Wells of Los Angeles, American's only woman police officer, gave an address on her work which was highly interesting. Mr. Hooper told of the work which is being done for the blind students and after the luncheon the ladies were conducted through the building. They returned in time for the Wednesday afternoon session.

Miss Jeffris Entertains.
The final society event of the convention week was given at the home of Miss Sue Jeffris yesterday afternoon. The members of the Art League and the Philomathian club were the hostesses and in the receiving line were Miss Jeffris, Mrs. J. P. Fomberg, president of the Art League and Mrs. O'Brien, president of the Philomathian. The residence was beautiful with cut flowers and foliage. A delectable luncheon was served. There was a large attendance.

Mrs. H. D. Murdoch, member of the state executive committee, to whom is due much credit for the manner in which the delegates were entertained, said today she was pleased with the hospitality shown by Janesville citizens, others as well as club women. Everyone seemed anxious, she said, to give the visitors a cordial welcome.

COLUMBUS DAY WILL BE OBSERVED HERE

Carroll Council, Knights of Columbus
Will Hold Banquet and Entertainment Monday Evening.

On Monday evening, October 14, the members of Carroll Council, No. 596, Knights of Columbus, will observe the four hundred and twentieth anniversary of the landing of Columbus with a banquet and entertainment in their hall in the Jackson block. The anniversary of the landing of the great discoverer falls on tomorrow, but as the day is on inconvenient for many of the Knights to observe, the celebration has been set for Monday evening. Members of the council and their ladies will be served at a banquet at 7:45, following which a program will be given. The numbers for the entertainment have not all been arranged yet, but the principal feature will be an address by Fr. William Mahoney, assistant pastor of St. Patrick's church, on "The Discovery of America." Other details will be given at a meeting of the committee in charge. A dancing party will close the evening's festivities. The committee in charge comprises: George Donnet, chairman; James Cronin, W. H. Dougherty, James Hetteron, Harold Dolan, and P. Klumb.

Pioneer Resident, Who Saw Service in 1882-'83 Died at Home in Chicago Yesterday.

John Kelley, chief of the Janesville fire department from May 1, 1882 to April 1, 1883, a pioneer settler in the city, and a soldier in the War of the Rebellion passed away at his home in Chicago yesterday morning following a brief illness. He had lived in this city since retiring from the position of chief, accepting a position with the Sells-Swabe shoe company. When he retired from business not long ago he was presented with a large cash gift by his employers in token of his long and faithful service.

Mr. Kelley was born in Ireland seventy-eight years ago and emigrated to the United States while a boy. He enlisted in the army as soon as he reached his majority and was just completing his second enlistment when the Civil War began. He enlisted at once and served throughout the war, taking part in many notable battles. He was twice wounded once in an arm and once in a leg. At the battle of Gettysburg, he was left on the field supposedly dead, and suffered from the effects of his wounds for a long time. Mr. Kelley came to Janesville at the close of the war and made his home here until his removal to Chicago.

Surviving Mr. Kelley are his wife, two sons, and a daughter. A niece, Mrs. T. B. Hanley, who resides at 443 North Bluff street and on being notified of her uncle's death left at once for Chicago, where she will attend his funeral. Mr. Kelley is remembered by many of the older residents of Janesville.

LAUREAN RECEIVES NINE NEW MEMBERS

Prospects For a Successful Year Are Flattering—Philomathian Girls

The Laurean boast of an excellent meeting last evening at the close of school. Several members, who were pledged over from last year, together with new names, were brought up last evening and all the names were voted upon. Nine new members were elected into the Laurean, they being the Misses Marjorie Van Kirk, Elizabeth Holmes, Esther Harris, Caroline Richardson, Sybil Richardson, Hilda Woolf, Dorothy Korst, Christiana McLay, and Isabelle McLay. Many of their former members were lost by graduation, making it necessary to elect a number of new names.

After the election their new critic Miss McClure, gave a rousing talk on how the Laurean could be a successful society. Regularity in attendance was emphasized by her and the members have now attained confidence that with the help of Miss McClure, the Laurean society should develop as a high-class literary club.

Philomathian Society.
The Philomathians were greatly surprised at their meeting yesterday, when their president, Vesta Bradley, entertained them with a treat, which was held in the school gymnasium. The inspiration of music was rendered by Miss Gertrude McGinley, and as a whole the entertainment was very pleasing to the members present. Preceding the treat a short meeting was held in which two topics were discussed, the remainder of the program being postponed until another time. Those given were interesting, the first being given by Grace McLay, on "The Life and Influences of Robert Louis Stevenson," while Francis Hall spoke of "Stevenson's Life in Europe." One thing of importance which will be voted upon at their next meeting is their limit of membership, which will be decreased from the present total of forty to that of thirty, making the society to handle, and giving each member an effort to do better work.

The girls departed at about eight o'clock after enjoying a pleasant afternoon and evening.

John L. Sullivan, one time fighter of great renown, is living on a Massachusetts farm and announces that his crops this year were perfectly lovely. He likes it on the farm. "I am back to mother earth for keeps," he recently declared, "and hope to spend the remainder of my days here. No more bohemian life with its bright lights. You can bet your last dollar on that."

The Pacific coast, which every year manages to turn out some wonders in the baseball world, has done its share this season. Among the records that were made in the Northwestern league this season was that of Ralph "Hap" Myers of the Spokane club, who stole 116 bases. According to the official guide books, this record has not been equaled in 20 years. Catcher Whaling of Seattle, worked in 138 games, made only seven errors, threw out 182 base runners and averaged .902.

The Australian cricket team, which came to America recently to meet the best we had in this country, is winning many notable victories. Apparently they are better than anything in the line of cricketers that we can boast of at this time.

It pays to be a player on a championship team. Practically every Red Sox and Giant player is pulling down thousands of dollars this week "reporting" to the big newspapers. Of course these men don't write a line that appears under their names; perhaps they don't even see the stuff they're advertised to have written until after it has appeared in print. Sport writers do the writing, and the players get the credit, and a good share of the cash.

Here's a story that shows how well it pays to be a player on a championship team. A Boston paper found that it had but five experts to write up the world's series while its rival had six. So Heinie Wagner was approached. "We'll give you $500 just to talk to our sporting editors after the game," was the offer to Heinie. "I'd be cutting the price," answered the Red Sox shortstop. "Wood and Speaker are getting $5,000 each for the same thing." "Their stuff will be sold to other papers, but we haven't time to sell your 'stories,'" Heinie told. "But we'll give you the $5,000." So Heinie is reporting. He says he hopes the series will go seven games.

Hank O'Day having failed to pilot the Cincinnati Reds to victory and glory this season, it is said that he may be ditched and Frank Chance of the Chicago Cubs given his job. It is understood that President C. W. Murphy of the Cubs does not oppose the change.

COLLEGE DEFEATS MILTON ALL STARS

Fast Baseball Game Won by Collegians By 1 to 0 Score After a Hard Struggle.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Milton, Oct. 11.—The local Collegians won a fast game of baseball from an all star aggregation of Milton players yesterday afternoon by a score of 1 to 0 before a fair sized crowd who came out to see the new material the college had of championship caliber and incidentally to get some of the world and Chicago series dope out of their systems. Those who braved the cold and wet saw a finely played game. The collegians scored in the second inning on a base on balls, a hit, a stolen base and an error. The All Stars came near tying the score in the fifth inning when Mullar tried to count from third on Curtis' sacrifice to the pitcher, but were nipped on home plate by a good relay from first. The game was a pitcher's battle between Mullar and Crandall with honors even. Batteries Crandall and Sorenson; Mullar and Burdick, umpire J. F. Whitford. Time of game, 1 hour and 25 minutes.

JANESVILLE ELEVEN TO PLAY AT GENEVA

Local High School Squad Are Ready to Test Their Ability Against Military Academy Team.

The local high school eleven are ready to tackle the strong squad from Northwestern Military Academy at Lake Geneva tomorrow. Although practice was not held on Monday, and very light work done throughout the week, they feel confident of holding their heavier opponents to a low score and some feel confident of a victory.

The team is greatly strengthened by the presence of "Schultz" Falter, who will play the rest of the season. Stewart, the quarterback, has improved greatly, and his ankle seems to be back in normal condition.

Little is known of the locals' opponents for tomorrow and how the members of the Janesville squad will be on their toes until they are able to size up the men which will oppose them.

The probable lineup will be as follows:

L. E. Smiley; L. T. Mohr; L. G. Dalton; C. Cannon; R. G. Koch; R. T. Falter; R. E. Connell, Capt.; Q. B. Stewart; L. H. Edler; R. H. Cummings; F. B. Ryan.

A report of the first part of the game will be in Saturday's paper, and the final result will be posted on the bulletin board immediately after the game is over.

SELLING OF LIQUOR TO MINORS CHARGE

William A. Knapp, Who Conducts Saloon on West Milwaukee St., Put Under Arrest Today.

William A. Knapp, who conducts a saloon at 413 West Milwaukee street was placed under arrest at noon today by Chief of Police George Appleby on a warrant charging him with selling liquor to Edward Meyer and Harry Berger, minor boys, on September 30. He will be given his hearing in the municipal court at ten o'clock tomorrow morning. Meyer and Berger are the youths held to answer the charge of murdering Matilda Bergsterman on the same night on which it is alleged Knapp sold them intoxicating liquor. Ed Bladorn, one of the witnesses in the hearing of Meyer and Berger gave evidence incriminating Knapp and other Janesville saloon keepers. The complaint against Knapp was made out by City Attorney Dougherty following a conference with the mayor and chief of police. This is the second action started this week the first being against Richard Finley, being slated for trial next Wednesday morning.

BRIEF LOCAL NEWS.

Many Apply For Admission: Poor-master Asa Anderson reports that numerous applications are being made for admission to the county poor farm. Happy Jack in "A Millionaire Tramp" is not one of those burlesque characters that are so often put into plays without rhythm or reason, but to attempt to bring out the far-fetched comedy that has no connection with a plot. In the above named play the tramp is the character about which the plot is woven.

REACH SETTLEMENT IN CASE OF TICKNOR

Defendant Agrees to Support Wife and Children and His Mother Stands As His Security.

Because of the agreement of Ward W. Ticknor to provide sufficient money for the support of his wife and children, and the promise of his mother to pay for their support in case he should fail to do so, the case of the State vs. Ticknor, charged with non-support and abandonment of his family, was adjourned when brought up for consideration in the municipal court yesterday afternoon. No bonds were required of Ticknor, who has returned to Chicago. His wife, who is now at the home of her mother in this city, is in very poor health and was unable to appear in court. Ticknor's mother and brother arrived here on Wednesday.

The settlement brought about by Mr. Anderson is a very satisfactory one from the standpoint of the county as in case of the conviction and imprisonment of Ticknor the county would have had to assume the support of his family. Ticknor agreed to pay all the costs incurred so far.

A GOOD COUGH CURE

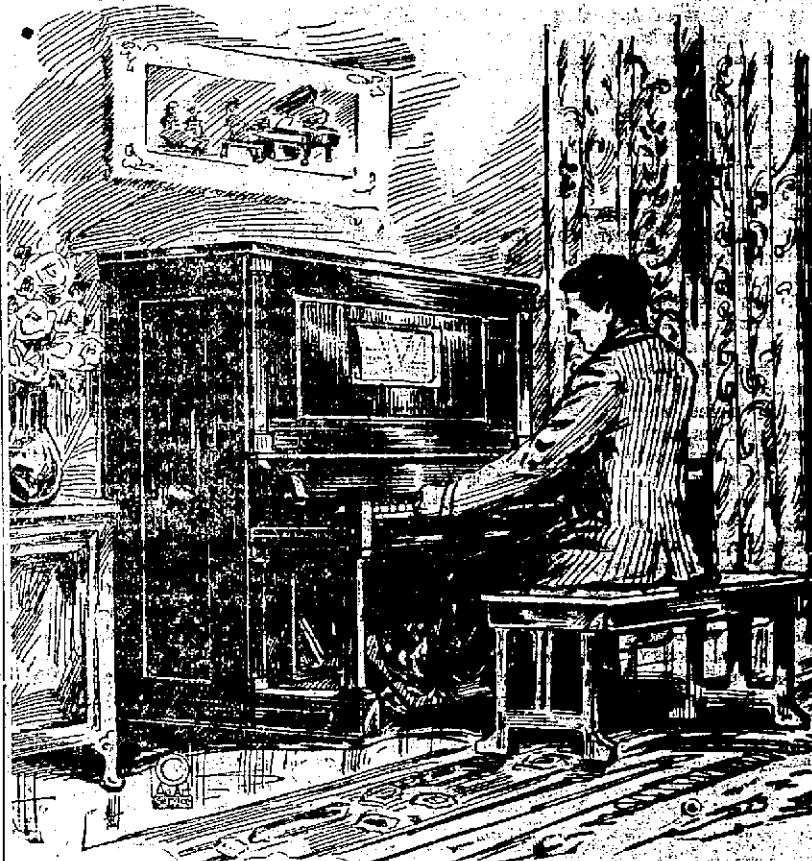

Do you remember the good old cough cure mother used to have? It didn't taste like cherry pie but it did cure a cough in a hurry. Mr. Plennig, our Graduate Pharmacist and Chemist, makes our cough balsam by percolation direct from the roots, barks and balsams of wild cherry, bloodroot, Lobelia, white pine bark. Thereby obtaining the full medicinal virtue and strength of each drug, making it into a syrup we call Badger Cough Balsam. It is made after an old prescription which is today the best cure for any cough, bronchial or lung trouble, healing and soothing to the irritated throat and lungs, it cures by assisting to expel the phlegm from the lungs, not by dosing the system with morphine and chloroform as do the modern patent cough remedies, deadening the nervous system, stupefying the lungs into retaining the mucus, thereby bringing on possible pneumonia and pleurisy. Badger Cough Balsam is a trustworthy expectorant, it loosens up and expels the phlegm. Get a bottle today for yourself or the children. It's safe to use, 25c. YOU CANNOT BUY AN OUT-OF-DATE 65 NOTE PLAYER-PIANO FROM A HOUSE THAT DOES NOT HANDLE THEM. We offer the Bauer, Knabe, Schuller, Price & Teeple, Cable-Nelson and twenty other standard makes. Get our figures before you buy elsewhere; we can save you some money.

Music students and teachers are buying player-pianos now since the recent introduction of the concert phrased roll. These new rolls enable the student to study the technique of famous pianists. You can have Paderewski, De Pachman and other great artists at your beck and call.

This new device makes a permanent record of a performance on a piano, and does it so faithfully and accurately that not a single eccentricity of the pianist's individuality is lost.

The musical world is sitting up and taking notice of this wonderful achievement, the greatest in history except the invention of the talking machine record. The old way of making music rolls for the player piano was by mathematical measurement. It was too correct to sound good when played by people who were not expert player-piano performers. The new way produces a "temperamental photograph" of the players mood.

You may own a fine piano and still suffer from a dearth of music, and I suggest that if you are in this position you should let me give you an estimate on an exchange so that you can own a piano that can be played with equal satisfaction either by hand or the player action.

Why not have a musical home this winter? Drop in and let's talk it over.

MANUFACTURERS INTERESTED.
That the manufacturers of the country, regardless of party, will vote for Taft and the republican national ticket, becomes more and more apparent as the campaign progresses, and there is a reason.
For instance, leather, boots and shoes, machine tools, farm wagons and carts, etc., and other articles manufactured in Chicago were placed upon the free list and had it not been for the veto of President Taft, a large number of factories would now be preparing to go out of business. A statement prepared by the Republican National committee shows that there are 7,030 establishments connected with leading industries in the state of Illinois, most of which are located near Chicago, which are directly and adversely affected by the democratic tariff bill. These establishments employ 300,776 workmen and the value of their finished product is over one billion dollars annually.
J. Harry Selz, vice president of the Selz-Schwab company, which is one of the largest shoe manufacturing companies in the West, with ten factories located in different states, and employing from four to five thousand men, said today:
"The reduction of duty on shoes in the Payne law was severe and is as far as it is safe to go in that direction. Certain cheaper grades of shoes today are made and sold in Europe below our prices and importations of them to this country have begun. The shoe manufacturers of England, Germany, France, and Belgium have adopted American machinery and methods. With their cheaper labor they are in a position to drive back our exports and rapidly develop their imports into the United States. The present low duties do not suffice to keep out the cheaper foreign shoes and any attempt still further to lower our slender margin of protection would be a very real menace to the shoe industry and to the hundreds of thousands of men and women employed in the shoe factories in every state in the Union."
Self-preservation is the first law of life and the manufacturers are fully alive to the political situation. They understand that any sort of a change of national administration, at the present time, will destroy confidence, and confidence represents ninety per cent of the nation's capital.
If employees will take time to think they will discover that it is suicidal to vote for a change. They are most vitally interested, for the thing which stands between them and dependence is an opportunity to work.
It was said when Cleveland was elected the last time, that business would not be affected, but long before he was inaugurated many factories were closed, and thousands of others before he had been in office six months. Why? Because capital had no confidence in free trade democracy. History will repeat itself, should Wilson be elected, and the wheels of industry, which furnish employment for both capital and labor, will many of them be silent. Vote right in November and continued prosperity is assured.

THE STATE PAY ROLL.
Official salaries paid out of the state treasury for the month of September totaled upward of four hundred thousand dollars, which indicates that the state salary list now devours money at the rate of five million dollars a year. No wonder that Wisconsin's increase in population is proceeding at a slower pace than in any other decade since the organization of the territory. The rate at which state expenditures are increasing is flagrantly out of proportion to the increase of population, and must operate greatly to the disadvantage of the state in attracting new settlers and in the effort to enlist investments of outside capital. Get rid of the administration of Jeckes and spendthrifts! Do a good turn for Wisconsin!—Milwaukee Sentinel.
Four hundred thousand dollars a month is a good bit of money, and this don't include the $40 spittoon and other necessities demanded by a reform administration, but "the money is out there in the state; go out and get the mon'." Will the taxpayers ever have a better time to call a halt?

LUTHER BURBANK THE PHILANTHROPIST.
While inventors and discoverers have been protected, and the products of brain rewarded, Luther Burbank of California, the great plant scientist and plant breeder, has quietly gone on with his work until he has solved the problem of causing two blades of grass to grow where one grew before, in almost every department of the plant and vegetable kingdom. He is recognized today as the great plant wizard of the world for he enjoys a world-wide reputation. Congressman McKinley visited Mr. Burbank at his farm home, Santa Rosa, California, not long ago, and this is what he said of him:

"Luther Burbank is the solution of the high cost of living. All the economists agree," he said, "that the chief item is the high price of meats. And they all agree that meats are high because the Western range is gone—because the great plains that used to grow cattle and sheep cheaply are now turned into farms.
"Burbank has taken cactus—that prickly curse of the plains that used to grow spikes from one to three inches long—and made it so smooth that you can rub your face with it as you would with a glove. And that is where its value comes in. Every ounce of that cactus is just as good for cattle, sheep, hogs and chickens as alfalfa.
"Now, cactus grows naturally all over the Southwestern states. It grows in sand, and takes its sustenance from the air. There are 2,500,000 acres of land in the inter-mountain states owned by the government that will grow that cactus naturally, without cultivation—and three billion acres of desert in the world.
"This is what I saw at Burbank's place a week ago last Sunday: One single acre on which there were 2,055 tons of that cactus, and the plants were but three years old. Think of where the price of cattle and sheep would go if that much alfalfa could be raised to an acre.
"Think of the millions of acres that are now waste, producing that cactus instead of the impossible, prickly stuff that they now grow wild. I tell you there is the solution of the cost of living. Burbank has furnished it."
The federal and state governments are spending $180,000,000 annually in the interests of agriculture. And yet the productive increase of land has advanced so little during the past decade, that it is scarcely worth noticing.
"In California, by means of the simplest methods—spade and shovel methods—methods which any farmer can easily apply, Luther Burbank has shown the world that it is possible to make one acre produce what took ten acres to produce before—has given the world thousands of newer and better fruits, vegetables, grains, forage plants, trees and plants which yield valuable substances for use in manufactures.
The popular application of Luther Burbank's simple methods and discoveries is capable of increasing soil production, not by per cents and fractions of per cents, but by doubles and triples.
In order that the world may profit through the broad-spread application of Luther Burbank's methods, The Luther Burbank Society has been chartered by the State of California to assist in compiling and placing minute information directly into the hands of those who derive their livelihood from the soil.
The Luther Burbank Society is not organized for profit. It will place the results of Mr. Burbank's life work written in clear, easily understandable form, and illustrated with direct color photographs, in the hands of the many at a nominal cost.
The farmers of America are spending millions of dollars a year for harvesters, threshers and other farm machinery which, at best, can enable them to produce a possible 15 to 20 per cent increase in farm output.
What then must the value of these Burbank methods, which, without investment, will show how farm output may be ultimately increased by a possible 100 per cent?
What must be the value of these methods placed within the easy reach of millions of farmers, in America alone, who have not the capital or the ready money to buy costly farm machinery?
What must be their value considering that the farmers of America represent only one-thirtieth of the farmers of the world—by whom these methods to be described in seven languages, can be read and understood?
Truly, the public spirit which prompted the organization of The Luther Burbank Society deserves not merely national, but international recognition.
For these men and women who have joined together in this Society to multiply and perpetuate Burbank's discoveries are doing a work which means better food and lower prices—not only in favored localities, but for all.
Luther Burbank's mind is not a commercial mind.
No man could put his hours, his enthusiasm and his almost infinite patience into any work which produced only money.
Now with more than forty years of daily experiment behind him, Luther Burbank has retired from all business, retaining only his experimental grounds, and has freed himself from all cares in order that he may devote himself to giving the whole result of his life work to the world.
Through the aid of The Luther Burbank Society, an organization of some of America's foremost men and women, chartered by the State of California for this single purpose, the Burbank methods and discoveries will be disseminated to a world which has anxiously awaited and needed them.
Most men are good losers. In fact, the philosophy of defeat has much to do with reputation and character. Senator La Follette is not a good loser, and so he is writing a story for his autobiography, soon to be published, "which he calls the true story of the campaign." Advance copies are being sent out to the press, and a casual reading suggests that the story should be entitled, "My Scrap With Roosevelt," or "How I slipped

STATE PRESS AND POLITICS.
Difficult Gymnastics.
Racine Journal-News:—Is not the silver voice of Senator Cummins to be heard in this campaign? Perhaps his straddling act in supporting the Colonel and at the same time remaining within the Republican party lines has affected his tongue.
The Progressive Position.
Waukesha Freeman:—The Freeman is not prepared to believe that Wisconsin Progressive Republicans are going to turn in and support the hand that has been smiting them. Senator La Follette will not do it, neither will any of his supporters of past years—not if they look to the future. If they permit temporary feeling of personal resentment to influence them they may. The great cause of progress is the thing and so don't vote for its enemies.
Taft Keeps Level.
Grant Co. Herald:—It is most gratifying to note the manner in which President Taft deports himself during these times of political acerbity and hysteria when it seems as if so many erstwhile levelheaded men had gone mad over the situation. His conduct and speech are quite in contrast with those of his competitors, and are significant factors in his growing political strength.
Pass It Along.
Eau Claire Leader:—Ten individuals, in amount from $100 to $500 have put up for the expenses of the republican state central committee. Good, still don't let us fool ourselves that even in progressive Wisconsin, we let the people do it. We still blik the office seekers, and they in turn must look to the people.
Fiddler Must Be Paid.
Antigo Journal:—That presidential campaigns cannot be run on wind is evident from the La Follette campaign expenditures. It cost him $63,981 and see how far he got. At the same rate per delegate it is only a matter of mathematics to determine how much it would have cost to get enough delegates to get the nomination.

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

A Dream.
I had a dream the other night
It was a dream of pure delight.
I thought I dwelt upon a pleasant isle
Where everyone enjoyed good health
And reveled in a lot of wealth.
And everybody wore a genial smile.
There wasn't any gossip there.
It was a place beyond compare.
And people just minded their own affairs.
There was no scandal there to shock
And people had no time to knock
And no one lugged around a lot of cares.
The statesmen throw no verbal bricks,
There was no talk of politics.
There were no tin-horn spielers in the place.
There were no campaign arguments,
No animosities intense,
And conversation was a winning grace.
There were no scorching autos there,
No popcorn whistles rent to air;
No agents selling books stopped at the door.
No young girl singers spoiled the night
And put the fiddle sleep to flight;
No storytellers made life a bore.
No pianolas banged away all through the night
And through the day.
There were no servant questions to be solved.
There were no grocers' bills to pay,
No pessimist to have his say;
No people in divorce suits were involved.
There were no shows all to the punk,
No sleepers with an upper bunk,
And no bit of tipping there to do.
Of course, dear reader, this may seem absurd even for a passing dream.
It is absurd, for it can ne'er come true.

Good--Or Indifferent:
Low price is a good thing to look for. Low prices may be found at any time of the year in some stores. But low prices are not everything, and unless quality goes with them they are of no consequence at all. The place in which you buy often makes all the difference between good and indifferent merchandise—without adding a penny of the cost to you. The season has brought a lot of underpriced offerings as distinguished for worthy quality as they are for price concessions. Investigate them.

THE NEWSBOY—THE STONE AGE AND TODAY

HAVE BUSY MORNING IN MUNICIPAL COURT

Case of Assault, Alleged Violation of Pure Food Law, and Six Cases of Intoxication Brought Up.

A case of assault and battery, and abusive language on alleged violation of the state pure food law, and six cases of intoxication made an unusually busy morning in the municipal court today. The action for assault and battery, and abusive language, was brought by Mrs. Bessie Courtney against Charles Lewis, and the offense as alleged in the warrant took place yesterday at 18 Holmes Street. Lewis at first denied the offense and pleaded "not guilty" but later decided to plead "guilty" rather than to go to the expense of a trial. He agreed to pay a fine of $5 and costs taxed at $3. Mr. and Mrs. Courtney and Lewis are comparatively newcomers in Janesville.

Dios Condos, a Janesville man, was arraigned on the charge of selling, or having in his possession for sale or exchange, canned cherries artificially colored with carmine in violation of the state pure food law. Condos entered a plea of not guilty and his hearing was set for ten o'clock next Tuesday morning. As District Attorney Dunwiddie was out of the city and could not be consulted in determining the time it is probable that the date of the hearing may be changed. Condos was left in the custody of Constable John J. Comstock, who placed him under arrest. The complaint was made by W. T. Scott.

John Uhler, who has been known as "the third story" man since he fell from the third story porch of the Schmidly flats about two weeks ago has persistently resisted all attempts of the police to smuggle him out of town was picked up from beneath a car at the Northwestern depot last night and arraigned in the municipal court on a charge of intoxication this morning. Uhler still lame as the result of his fall, and wearing a dab of soot over his eye, consented to plead guilty and was sentenced to jail for ten days in default of a fine of $5 and costs.

Two repeaters, Hugh Stockman, and Frank Smith, were given long sentences in token of their recognition as such. Stockman went to jail for twenty days and Smith for thirty. Joe Biggs received six days for a similar offense. Alfred Benson, an Evansville man, paid a fine of $5 and costs.

GEORGE J. KELLOGG WRITES OF FRUITS

Geo. J. Kellogg of Lake Mills Discusses Varieties of Apples and Strawberries.

A discussion of the merits of certain varieties of apples and strawberries is given by Geo. J. Kellogg of Lake Mills, in a letter written to the Gazette, and some interesting facts regarding these fruits are brought out in the letter. Mr. Kellogg recently made a trip to Minnesota, and his observations made on the trip are given for the benefit of Gazette readers. The letter follows:

Lake Mills, Wis., Oct. 4, 1912. Editors Gazette:

I have just returned from a trip to Minnesota. On the way I judged the fruit at the La Crosse fair. I visited the Hopkins fair, eight miles west of Minneapolis, and saw the finest fruit I ever saw for the number of plates finer than at the national exhibitions. I saw a Wealthy apple that measured fourteen inches around and weighed a pound. Mr. Elliott, of our party, bought it for one dollar.

After visiting that county fair we visited the wonderful state experimental farm where thousands of bearing seedling plums are loaded to breaking—the fruit so plentiful it would not pay to gather and market them twenty-five miles away. These seedling plums, many of them, were as large as the Surprise and larger than De Soto. They are a hybrid that bears at two and three years old before they get four feet high and loaded down to breaking. Hundreds of bushels lie on the ground rotting.

Then we visited the acre of hybrid strawberries, a cross of the Dunlap with the Dunlap. Every bearing "Autumn." About half of these seedlings prove to be overbearers and I took a list of nine of their numbers and will exchange and give them a trial next year. A large portion of these plants were full of ripe fruit, green fruit and blossoms.

While writing of these overbearing strawberries I will quote from Mr. H. Rockhill's letter, just received from Iowa. He says: "Since July 14 we have picked 51 cases, 16 quarts each, of these strawberries, and for lack of help as many more have gone to waste. At a fair estimate there are 10 bushels of ripe berries on the vines at this writing. Sept. 30, after three mornings of ice, I will add that from my little patch we have had strawberries for the table some of the time the past month, three times a day."

A few more words about the Wealthy apple. This is a Minnesota seedling produced by Peter Giddison, who named it after his wife, whose name was Wealthy. The Minnesota State Horticultural society has raised a memorial fund and placed a monument to the memory of Mr. Giddison, which I visited during our trip. The Wealthy apple is probably the best October apple we can raise; good every way, cooking, eating and a beautiful red, and sells at sight. The farther north it grows it keeps into the winter and when well grown, properly sprayed, it is one of the best to put into cold storage and will keep until spring.

GEORGE J. KELLOGG.

To immortalize a Fashion. A skirt, a flounce, a slipper, set in a beautiful sentence, lives more than a mortal life. I long for the fiery of our time to outdate its period, for it to go down the centuries in shingles, exortiums and metaphors, and by its very imagery to suggest to less splendid ages all the beauty and luxury of ours.—Atlantic Monthly.

FLYNN OPENS HEALTH CAMPAIGN

and proceeded to give a demonstration of some of his exercises explaining while he did it what they were for and just how to do them. Later he led the students in a number of exercises insisting that they do them carefully.

"The first thing you want to be able to do is to place your hands on the floor and touch your nose to your knees," said Mr. Flynn from his station on the chair. "Do this before you go to bed tonight."

He proceeded to bend over. "As you do this you will find that the muscles of your legs will stretch and hurt. Give them a few slaps to limber them up."

"When you touch your nose to your knees your back will give you a twitch. That's the duck soup you had for breakfast. You ought to get along on two meals a day. Make the muscles of your back as supple as possible. Keep in condition."

Eight Tuberculous. Breathing exercises were demonstrated to the students. They were shown how to keep their lungs in condition, how to breathe and how to secure a chest expansion that is a credit to a healthy boy and girl. "When you have developed your lungs as they ought to be, cleared your noses of catarrh and eliminated the dangers of colds, as you can do by following these simple exercises, such a thing as tuberculosis will never be heard of Janesville High."

"When I was a boy they used to tell me to throw my shoulders back, and I went like this," he said demonstrating the familiar corrective pose of the school boy. "They knew something was wrong but they didn't tell the right thing to do. What you want to do is to pull in Maud (a term Mr. Flynn uses for the stomach.) Then throw out the chest and learn how to use your lungs."

Gives Students Drills. He called for the students to stand and he led them in a number of breathing exercises. Then he showed them how to clear their noses of infections such as catarrh. He demonstrated facial and eye exercises, very simply but likewise very effective. Every boy and girl responded to Mr. Flynn's directions and were enthusiastic over the ideas presented.

The climax of the lecture came when Mr. Flynn declared he wanted to hear a school yell so that he could get some idea what kind of lungs the Janesville High had. Yellmaster Ralph Souhaman stepped to the front and led the students in a rousing J. H. S. yell. Mr. Flynn stood on a chair so he could get a good view. "Well with your bodies, use every muscle as well as your lungs," he shouted.

Wants Another Yell. "That was fine, fine," he commented after the first trial. "Now do it again." They responded with even greater gusto so that the big main room fairly shook with the lusty cheerings of the students. Two of the other yells were given much to the delight of Mr. Flynn. When they had finished he declared, "I have never heard such volume, such expression and lung power from a body of high school students of this size before. I want to be an honest Christian about this and I believe I am. It's simply magnificent."

When he withdrew from the platform he shook hands with Principal H. C. Buell, commending the showing the boys and girls had made. "Aren't they splendid?" he said.

The hand clapping and applause continued vigorously after he retired from the rostrum. He went back for just a few more words. These were followed by another outburst as Mr. Flynn left the room to greet the teachers. He returned to the front of the room to wave farewell.

Plans Big Meetings. Mr. Flynn is planning on some big meetings in Janesville next week. He speaks on Sunday to boys and men only at the M. E. church. He invited the high school boys this morning and hoped they will have a body, and bring their fathers.

Meetings will be held every night beginning Sunday and continuing through Thursday. Parents and all interested in the public health are earnestly urged to be present. After they have seen and heard Flynn once they will not miss him again.

Mr. Flynn is planning one rousing meeting, perhaps, for next Wednesday evening, when he will have the high school students on exhibition. He will have each student invite two or three grown persons to come to the meeting at which Mr. Flynn will put on his best address. It would certainly be a winner to judge by his lecture this morning.

Students and members of the faculty at the high school are anxious to hear Flynn again several times before he leaves Janesville.

TO EXTEND ELECTRIC POWER TO NEWVILLE

Creamery To Be Operated And Farm Homes Lighted By Current Transmitted From Edgerton.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Newville, Oct. 9.—Plans have been completed for building an electric light line from Edgerton to Newville and work will probably be begun next Monday.

The Creamery company will then use electricity to operate their machinery and a number of farmers will have their homes lighted by electricity. This is the first rural line out of Edgerton.

Rev. Freymeyer has been appointed for this charge and will preach at the Hall next Sunday evening. It is hoped a large number will be out to hear him.

The S. S. Reception will be held on Friday evening of this week, instead of last as at first planned. Work will soon begin on the Milton road south of Newville bridge. This road is to be built under county and state aid provisions. The men are boarding at G. L. Richardson's. Mr. and Mrs. Mark Richardson of Milton Junction, were recent guests at Frank Sherman's.

HARRY BOLENS TAKES SHOT AT EXPENSES OF RUNNING STATE

Democratic Candidate For Lieutenant Governor in a Speech at Clyman Has Interesting Data.

Harry W. Bolens, democratic candidate for Lieutenant Governor, has taken the opportunity to pour some hot shot into the ranks of the state administration by quoting figures as to the cost of conducting the business of the state. It is worth reading and is printed below:

The total receipts for Wisconsin for the year ending June 30th, 1911, was $10,152,231.32 and for the year ending June 30th, 1912, was $11,239,675.43, a total of $21,391,906.75 or an average of $10,695,953.38. The population of Wisconsin is 2,333,560; this means that every man, woman and child in the state including Indiana, contributed by direct taxation each year $4.66.

The receipts enumerated above are the net receipts after deducting all moneys received by the state as transfer or agency funds, such as inheritance, street railways and other agency taxes.

The total receipts for the state of Iowa for the year ending June 30th, 1911, was $4,286,867.79 and for the year ending June 30th, 1912, was $4,983,443.10 or a total of $9,270,310.89, or an average each year of $4,635,155.44. The population of Iowa is 2,224,771. This means that every man, woman and child in Iowa contributed directly by taxation each year $2.08.

The total receipts for the state of Illinois for two years from October 1st, 1912, was $21,318,929.10 or an average of $10,659,464.55 for each year. The population of Illinois is 5,648,591. This means that each man, woman and child in Illinois contributed directly by taxation for each of the above years the sum of $1.88.

Therefore, the average family of five in Iowa contributes $10.40 per year. The average family of five in Illinois contributes $9.40 each year. While the average family of five in Wisconsin contributes for state taxes, $23.30 per year.

The daily papers of Oct. 5th in a press dispatch from Madison stated that the amount of money paid out by the state treasurer for salary to state employees for the month of September, and it showed that the total salary for Wisconsin officials and employees amounted to the enormous sum of $5,000,000.00 annually. With this great drain on the pocketbooks of the Wisconsin taxpayer it is to be wondered that the average family contributes the sum of $23.30 per year for the state taxes when the Illinois taxpayers contribute only $9.40.

If we figure this $5,000,000.00 salary into the population of the state which is, according to the last census 2,333,560, it shows that it costs each inhabitant of this state $2.13 each year to pay the salary of the state employees. It costs Wisconsin taxpayers twenty-five cents more per capita in taxes each year to pay salaries alone than it costs the inhabitants of Illinois to run the whole state government.

COUNCIL HELD LATE SESSION YESTERDAY

Consented to License Transfers and Ordered Improvements Made in Streets.

But little business was brought before the meeting of the city council at five o'clock yesterday afternoon, but it was business of such a nature as to require prompt action. The meeting was not held until this late hour because Mayor Fathers was in Madison on business and did not return until that time. On the application of the Reliable Drug company, E. C. Behling was given permission to transfer his pharmacist's permit to sell liquor to Ella D. Kruger, 225 West Milwaukee street. The liquor license of the Fred L. Jones estate was transferred to Frank W. Gentile, and the bond of Mr. Gentile accepted.

Supt. of Streets C. K. Millmore was ordered to build a brick crosswalk across Oakland avenue on the west side of Division street and to construct temporary culvert walks at the approaches to the Racine street and Fourth avenue bridges where necessary. He was also ordered to serve notice on the owners of lots 204 and 205 Mitchell's fifth addition to build a cement sidewalk in front of their property on the south side of Mineral Point avenue.

TOPICS ANNOUNCED FOR TWILIGHT CLUB

Subjects to Be Discussed at Meetings Through Season Determined Upon—Speakers Selected.

Topics for the meetings of the Twilight club throughout the season of 1912-13 have been agreed upon by the program committee consisting of M. O. Mount, C. V. Kerch, F. L. Clemons, E. J. Haumerson, A. E. Matheison, and Charles L. Field. The topic for the next and first meeting, on Tuesday evening, October 14, "Political History" was announced over a week ago. "National Emigration and Immigration" will be discussed at the November meeting. "Our Penal Institutions" at the December meeting, and "Public Institutions of Janesville" will be the January topic. "Literary Night" will be held in February, and "Science Night" in March. "Ladies' Night" comes in April and the topic for that evening will be left to the leader appointed.

The following is the program of the first meeting, at which Andrew J. Gibbons will be leader. Subject—"Political History." Andrew J. Gibbons, leader. 1st—"National Progressive Party," J. W. Laughlin. 2nd—"The Political Situation in Wisconsin," M. P. Richardson. 3rd—"Industrial Education," H. E. Miles of Racine. 4th—"The Democratic Party," Horace McElroy. 5th—"The Republican Party," W. H. Dougherty.

Never Too Late to Learn.

In his seventy-fifth year Mr. J. H. Robinson, a retired cotton worker of Preston, Lancashire, England, has passed in elementary French at evening classes. He took up the study on his retirement 18 months ago and has never missed a class or been late since. His home work was highly commended.

WAR ON SOCIAL EVIL FOLLOWS ARREST

Vessie Bostwick.

War was declared on Atlanta, Ga.'s social evil by Chief of Police James E. Beavers, following the recent arrest of Vessie Bostwick, pretty fourteen-year-old daughter of Rev. J. L. Bostwick, evangelist minister, and brought about the closing of 14 resorts in the restricted district. The girl and two companions were arrested as they were about to leave the city with a cheap "movie" musical comedy company. Orders were issued by the police to every resort in the city to close on October 7, and special policemen and detectives have been pressed into service to protect young girls from irresponsible theatrical managers and promoters.

FAMOUS ACTRESS CANNOT LIVE LONG

Mrs. Patrick Campbell.

Physicians have ceased to hope for the recovery of Mrs. Patrick Campbell, the actress. She has been very ill in London since early in September.

Not an Unmixed Blessing. A woman claims that by prayer and fasting she has gained the gift of tongues and now can converse in all language. The cynics will probably retort that, taking the self-asserted miracle for granted, one tongue has proved to be far too valuable a vehicle for the majority of her sex, and that the access of all languages is not so much a personal merit as a general misfortune.—Baltimore, American.

Should Have Learned Earlier. A Swiss girl who three weeks ago married a Turkish nobleman is asking for a divorce on the grounds that western and eastern life are very different. She does not bring any accusations against her husband.

BACK FROM ODD FELLOWS' ENCAMPMENT AT HUDSON:

Janesville Men Who Attended Speak Highly of Entertainment Offered Them in That City.

Mayor James A. Fathers, F. W. Koebelin, J. W. Van Bynum, and Herman Kramer have returned from Hudson, where they attended the encampment of Wisconsin Odd Fellows. In session there on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. The first two days were devoted to business and the last day to entertainment. The Janesville men who were present speak very highly of the hospitality of the Hudson citizens. Among the entertainment features of the trip were a trip to Stillwater, Minnesota, where the state's prison was visited, and a ride to the Willow River Falls, a waterfall which is said to rival the famed Minnehaha Falls near Minneapolis. Mayor Fathers spent yesterday in Madison on city business.

FRESH GRAPE FRUIT FOUND ON LOCAL MARKET.

Fresh grape fruit is the feature of today's fruit market; these are the finest to be found on the local market this season and they are very plentiful. They took an unlooked for increase in price this morning, they are retailing for 10 cents each. Michigan peaches which have been of such an excellent quality this year are getting to be very scarce and the next few days will see the last of them. Home grown muskmelons are also very scarce and there is hardly any of them on the market. They are selling at from 5 to 10 cents each. Crab-apples are having a very good run this year and they are of the very best quality that can be had. They sell for 7 cents a pound. Of the vegetables the fresh beets which came on the market some time ago are still very good and also abundant. They took a slight decline in price this morning, they are now selling for 2 cents a bunch. The prices of the local market are as follows:

MRS. HARRIET HORN IS CALLED BY DEATH

Wife of Dr. William Horn Passed Away at Mercy Hospital Late Yesterday Afternoon.

Mrs. Harriet Horn, wife of Dr. William Horn, passed away at Palmer Memorial hospital at about 3:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon. She had been gradually failing for the last few months. She was taken to the hospital for treatment last Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Horn was born in Hendelby, England, July 6, 1840, and came to Janesville about forty-five years ago. For several years she was head matron at the State Blind Institute. It was while acting in this capacity that she met Dr. William Horn and was married to him in the latter 'sixties. She was a woman highly esteemed by her acquaintances and beloved by her friends, and her passing will bring grief to many.

Surviving Mrs. Horn are her husband, now nearing his ninety-second year, a sister, Mrs. Alice Kayser, and other relatives residing at Edgerton; four step-sons, Edward Horn of this city; Dr. G. R. Horn of Whitewater; and William and Marshall Horn of Chicago. One step-daughter, Mrs. Anna Young of Chicago, died a year ago. The father of Mrs. Horn, who accompanied her to this country, died and was buried at Edgerton many years ago. A first cousin, Mrs. Ellen McCabe, lives in Boston.

Funeral services will be conducted at the home, 70 Park street, at one o'clock sharp tomorrow afternoon, the Rev. John McKinney, rector of Christ church, officiating. Interment will be made in Oak Hill cemetery.

SOX-CUBS ARE TIED IN NINE INNINGS

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Chicago, Oct. 11.—Another gloomy prospect was presented for the city championship game between the Cubs and White Sox today. Rain fell early during the morning and the atmosphere was heavy with more rain threatening.

The game, however, was played, the batteries being Cheney and Archer for the Cubs and Chicotte for the Sox.

The Sox scored in the first inning but failed to cross the plate in the next two. The Cubs were unable to solve Chicotte and failed to score in the three innings.

The Cubs failed to score in the fourth. In the fifth they tied the score but failed to score again in the sixth. The Sox made nothing in the fourth, fifth or sixth innings.

The Cubs failed to score in the seventh inning but made two in the eighth, none in the ninth. The Sox passed up the seventh and eighth but scored twice in the ninth tying the score.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR MRS. HARTIN

Remains of Beloved Evansville Woman Tenderly Laid at Rest This Afternoon.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Evansville, Oct. 11.—Mrs. Lucy Maria Mossitt Hartin was born at Mukwonago, August 25, 1860, and died at her home Wednesday morning at ten o'clock after a long illness and much suffering which she bore with the greatest fortitude.

She was married at Beloit, May 8, 1889, to Henry A. Hartin. To this union five children were born, three of whom, Mrs. Sussie Trunkill and Charles and Robert Hartin reside in this city. Beside the bereaved husband two sisters, Mrs. Mary Yunger of Brodhead and Mrs. Rhody Moore of Beloit, survive.

About three years ago the family moved to Beloit, making that their home for a year, then coming again to Evansville, where they have since resided.

Mrs. Hartin was a strong member of the Free Baptist church here, a splendid Christian and worker, as far as strength permitted for the church to which she belonged.

Funeral services were held this afternoon at two o'clock at the home, Rev. Myers of the Free Baptist church officiating. Interment was made in Maple Hill cemetery.

Saving Faith

Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and Thou Shalt Be Saved.—Acts 16:31.

THERE are many important problems which in this life call for solution, but no question can possibly be so momentous as the query of the jailer of Philippi, "What must I do to be saved?" nor any answer to that question at once so simple and so comprehensive as the reply of Paul, "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved." In every age men have in multitudes been moved to ask this question, and the name is legion of those who have found comfort and peace in accepting the solution offered by prisoner Paul, and believing savingly in the name of the redeeming Christ.

In the present day there are many men of "mere morality" who continue like their predecessors in history to pride themselves on their upright life and "good works," and decline to submit as humble supplicants for pardon at the foot of the cross on which Jesus died for sinners.

There is still need, however, for the simple, earnest and direct preaching of the truth that Jesus died for sinful men, and that the only way to the favor of God lies past the foot of an uplifted cross.

Three Elements of Faith. The question, however, may arise: What is it to believe on the Lord Jesus Christ savingly? Many enquirers are in real perplexity on that point. No Christian believer should be in ignorance of the true answer to that query. It is a fact that human language is inadequate to fully state all the implications of redemption, and there may be elements of this saving belief on the Lord Jesus which escape detection and analysis. In the present world at least, but the broad outlines of redemption may be mastered by a child's intelligence, so long as a child's spirit of simplicity and sincerity moves to the inquiry. There are, it may be said, three elements in saving faith, no one of which may safely be neglected. These are the assent of the mind, the consent of the will and the obedience of the life.

The assent of the mind is required by the Master to a few simple propositions which, if language means anything at all, are readily discerned as an integral part of the teaching of God's Word. In order to be saved man must regard Jesus as a Saviour, and that, too, a divine Saviour. He is not born of God—in this century any more than in the first century, when John wrote—who does not confess that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh, and the means come as a divine and all-sufficient Redeemer, being at once the incarnation of the Father and the interpreter of the one God. The sinfulness of man, the need of the new birth, the dependence of mankind on God's Holy Spirit, the eternal difference between right and wrong, and the final issues of life—ultimately in heaven or hell—these are the salient outlines of the New Testament teachings, which the spiritually illumined see. Without some such irreducible minimum of mental conviction the content of salvation is not provided, Must Have Consent of Will.

But when the mind has assented to certain doctrinal teachings the will must consent to the mode and process of salvation. Perhaps this activity of assenting is in actual practice contemporaneous with that of consenting. At any rate, the will must be reached with the gospel motives, and must yield to them, if salvation is to be made possible. The will is in a sense the man. The will and the affections are bound up mysteriously together. Unless a man wills to be saved he cannot be saved. God will not force his salvation on any one. This willingness demanded from the human subject is essentially a willingness to let Christ save one. That is just where many of the unsaved make trouble for themselves, for they want to buy or manufacture or in some way supply their own salvation, and are unwilling to accept it as a free gift from God. Pride is the stumbling block in the way of multitudes.

There is a third element in salvation which, in all cases of genuine conversion, practically follows the other two, and that is the obedience of the life. This is not the ground but the result of the sinner's justification. The fruit which the plant bears is not the source, but is the proof of its life. Men are not saved by their good works, it is true, but it is certain that they are not saved without them. The apostle Paul pierced this error, when he exclaimed: "Shall we continue in sin that grace may abound? God forbid!" It is a point that cannot be too much insisted on that while sinners are saved they are saved from their sins and are the Lord's redeemed. The "magna charta" of believers is expressed in the assurance: "Sin shall have no more dominion over you."

Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ with such an intelligent, practical faith as this, and thou shalt be saved. Satan is intent on mystifying the mind, deflecting the will and debasing the conduct of all would-be believers on the redeeming Christ, but we are not ignorant of his devices, nor should we allow others to be misled by him and thus defeated of their heavenly estate and crown.—Rev. C. S. Dwight.

Be merciless toward sin but very merciful toward the sinner.

ORGANIZE FOR TAFT CAMPAIGN IN CITY

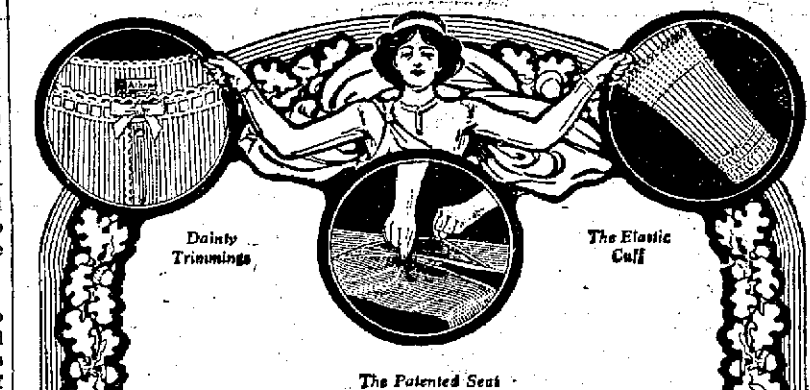

Taft and Sherman Republican Club Formed at Meeting in Gazette Office Last Evening.

At a meeting of Republicans held last evening in the Gazette office, a Taft and Sherman club for the city of Janesville was organized and plans for political work during the present campaign were discussed. The matter of providing entertainment for Senator Thurston of Nebraska, who is to deliver an address at the opera house on Saturday evening, was quite extensively discussed. The meeting was called to order by Orville S. Morse, who acted as temporary chairman, and the work of organization was taken up. Mr. Morse was elected as president of the club, B. L. Eller as secretary and Leo Brownell as treasurer. An executive committee to act during the absence of Mr. Morse, and to be composed of W. O. Newhouse as chairman, W. H. Dougherty, David Atwood, N. L. Carle, A. E. Matheson, W. T. Scofield, George H. Williamson and the officers of the club, was also chosen. On motion it was decided that membership blanks and subscription lists be placed in the banks and at several drug stores in the city to be signed by those who desire to become members of the club, or to aid in the work by contributing to the campaign funds. Orville Morse, chairman of the executive committee, was authorized to appoint a committee for raising funds and an apportionment committee. A call was issued for a meeting of the executive committee at the Gazette office at half past seven o'clock this evening, at which time plans for the entertainment of Senator Thurston will be discussed.

The purpose in organizing the club was explained last night by David Atwood and President Morse. The coming of Senator Thurston and the plans for further demonstrations of the sort in this city made it necessary to have some kind of an organization to handle and disburse the funds necessary. It was also stated that a state Taft League has been formed at Oshkosh in charge of William Bray and George P. Hambrecht of Grand Rapids, who are working under the direction of the Republican committee at Chicago.

Throughout the state Taft clubs have been organized and it was thought that the time had come for the Taft men in this city to get into line. With regard to the plans for Saturday night, the opera house has been rented for Mr. Thurston's speech and the Bower City band hired. Mr. Thurston will be met at the depot on his arrival Saturday by a reception committee composed of members of the club.

SELECT your fall and winter knit underwear carefully. Make sure that it possesses comfort—warmth—wear. Be doubly certain that it will fit your body smoothly—perfectly—without bulk.

ATHENA UNDERWEAR
For Women, Misses and Children

is made in firmly knitted elastic fabrics that do away with wrinkles under the corset—a great cause of discomfort in the ordinary underwear.

Athena underwear fits the figure with the smoothness of a silk stocking. It insures comfort without bulk—daintiness with wearability.

Here are some of its special merits:

A patented seat that gives extra room where room is most needed. A special stay that prevents the garment from stretching over the shoulder. An elastic cuff that holds the sleeve in place and keeps it from slipping up on the arm. Trimming put on in an improved way, giving exquisite daintiness that is not lessened by washing.

In all shapes and fabrics at the price you usually pay. Try Athena for the children. A perfect fit for all ages—from two to sixteen years.

SIDEWALK KETCHES.

THE PUMPKIN.

(By Howard L. Rann.)

in a high voice.

The favorite variety of pumpkin is known as the Mammoth pumpkin. This is a very cheese species, and is seldom eaten at one meal. It is raised for the purpose of taking first premium at the county fair, in company with the amateur water color and the Swedish turnip. A touch of romance is added to rural life by depositing double-chinned Mammoth pumpkins on the bosom of a vacant cow.

The Mammoth pumpkin would be more popular if it had handles. It is a difficult task to lift one of these pumpkins into a spring wagon without starting a vindictive creak in the back or parting with a new set of suspender buttons.

The pumpkin pie is a fall delicacy which is eaten with great gusto and a dull knife by people whose appetites will not shy at anything. It is usually served cold, and when washed down with hard cider makes a very comfortable and filling concoction. A staple New England breakfast consists of a cross-section of pumpkin pie, a pint of apple cider and a chapter from the book of Deuteronomy.

There are several varieties of pumpkin pie, the most famous of which is the kind mother used to make. This pie disappears from circulation immediately after a man gets married, but is constantly being injected into the conversation for the purpose of improving the brand of home cooking.

DINNER STORIES

Farmer John and Farmer Turmint were having a talk over a glass of ale in the local inn. Though they had striven not to speak shop, their talk had gradually veered round to the one topic about which it was really worth chatting:

"How's yer corn?" demanded Farmer T.

"All right," was the reply. "Pigs doin' well?"

"Fine," came the answer. "That little pony of yours—quite well?"

"In good condition. My little pony went fourteen miles yesterday."

"Good crop of cabbages?"

"Excellent."

"Glad to hear it. How's the mis-sus?"

Word had been received by the inspector of the electric light system that an overhead wire had fallen down on a crowded street. The inspector betook himself to the spot as quickly as he could.

When he arrived he found the inevitable crowd handling the wire in the most careless manner. Luckily, no accidents had occurred.

Going up to the nearest man, who happened to be an Irishman, he admonished him severely in grave tones:

CARROLL COUNCIL ELECTS OFFICERS

Knights of Columbus Held Annual Election and Business Meeting in Club Rooms Last Night

Officers for the ensuing year were chosen last evening by the members of Carroll Council, No. 596, Knights of Columbus, at their annual meeting held at the club rooms in the Jackson block, and reports of the residing officers were read. The meeting was attended by a large number of the members of the council, and after the business session, a smoker and social time was enjoyed. The new officers of the council are: Grand Knight, George J. Sennett; Deputy Grand Knight, James L.

"You took a grave risk," said the inspector. "You had no right to touch that wire. Why man, do you know you might have been killed outright by the shock?"

The Irishman looked at the inspector with a knowing air.

"Ah," said he, "I was mighty careful, sor! Sure, and I felt it of careful ly before I took hold of it!"

Newly married, the young couple were going on their honeymoon. Beyond themselves they had no thoughts for anything or anybody, and they sat, oh so close together in the railroad train.

By and by the train drew up at a wayside station known to fame as Sawyer Junction.

"Sawyer! Sawyer! Sawyer!" shouted the low, common station porter as he passed the open window of the carriage containing the honeymoon couple.

The young bridegroom, who had just kissed his young wife for the six hundred and twenty-first time, rose to his wrath and thrust his head out through the aperture of the window.

"Don't care if you did!" he snapped indignantly. "We were married this morning!"

FOR DANDRUFF, FALLING HAIR OR ITCHY SCALP—25 CENT "DANDERINE"

Save your hair! Danderine destroys dandruff and stops falling hair at Once—Grows Hair, we prove it—Absolutely Harmless.

If you care for heavy hair, that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous you must use Danderine, because nothing else accomplishes so much for the hair.

Just one application of Knowlton's Danderine will double the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff; you cannot have nice, heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive secret robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast.

If your hair has been neglected and is thin, faded, dry, scraggy or too oily, don't hesitate, but get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine. At any drug store or toilet counter; apply a little as directed and ten minutes after you will say this is the best investment you ever made.

We sincerely believe, regardless of everything else advertised that if you desire soft, lustrous, beautiful hair and lots of it—no dandruff—no itching scalp and no more falling hair—you must use Knowlton's Danderine. If eventually—why not now? A 25 cent bottle will truly amaze you.

Proves Sure Cure For Rheumatism

Quickly Eases Stiff, Sore, Swollen Joints and Muscles—Drives all Rheumatic Pains Away.

It is needless to suffer any longer with rheumatism, and be all crippled up, and bent out of shape with its heart-wrenching pains, when you can be quickly and permanently cured.

Rheumatism comes from weak, inactive kidneys, that fail to filter from the blood, the poisonous waste matter and uric acid; and it is useless to rub on liniments or take ordinary remedies to relieve the pain. This only prolongs the misery and can't possibly cure you.

The only way to cure rheumatism is to remove the cause. The new discovery, Croxone, positively does this. It neutralizes and dissolves all the poisonous substances and uric acid that lodge in the joints and muscles, to scratch and irritate and cause rheumatism, and cleans out and strengthens the stopped-up, inactive kidneys, so they filter all the poison from the blood, and drive it on and out of the system.

Croxone is the most wonderful medicine ever made for curing chronic rheumatism, kidney troubles, and bladder disorders. You will find it different from all other remedies. There is nothing else on earth like it. It matters not how old you are, or how long you have suffered, it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results. You will find relief from the first few doses, and you will be surprised how quickly all your misery and suffering will end.

An original package of Croxone costs but a trifle at any first class drug store. All druggists are authorized to sell it on a positive money-back guarantee. Three doses a day for a few days is usually all that is ever needed to cure the worst backache or overcome urinary disorders.

MOORE-FORD WEDDING HELD ON WEDNESDAY

Took Place at St. Joseph's Church, The Ceremony Being Performed By The Rev. Harlin.

Porter, Oct. 11.—In spite of the inclement weather a very pretty wedding took place at St. Joseph's church on Wednesday morning, October 9, 1912, when Miss Agnes Moore became the bride of Mr. Robert Ford.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. E. Harlin in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends. The bride was most handsomely gowned in white satin and carried a shower bouquet of white roses. Her maid of honor, Miss Laura Murphy wore a gown of white silk trimmed with velvet lace. The groom wore the conventional black and Mack Ford, brother of the groom acted as best man.

After the ceremony the bride and groom were escorted to the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Moore, where a sumptuous wedding dinner was served to about one hundred and twenty guests. Those assisting in serving were the Misses Edith Clapp, Esther Adolphson, Catherine Keegan, Inez Gilley, Grace Devine, and Laura Schlitz. The home was beautifully decorated for the reception with flowers of green and white being carried out throughout the rooms. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ford left on a wedding trip to Milwaukee. On their return they will reside on a farm recently purchased by the groom. Both bride and groom are popular young people having always resided here and their numerous friends join in wishing the newlyweds all possible happiness and prosperity. Out of town guests present at the ceremony were as follows: Rev. J. E. Harlin, Mr. and Mrs. James Pollard, Mrs. Keegan, Mr. and Mrs. John Madden and Miss Catherine Keegan of Edgerton, Mrs. Nash, Miss Casey and the Misses Fitzpatrick of Evansville, Mr. and Mrs. Moore of Evansville, Mr. and Mrs. Will Marsh of Willowdale, Mr. and Mrs. George Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Will Moore of Evansville and Miss Mary Tierman of Woodland, Wis.

WOMAN'S PAGE

CHATS WITH THINKING WOMEN

by Barbara Boyd

The Step Forward in Amusements

A PARTY of tourists had gone ashore for the brief hour their boat had stopped at a lake port. The main street of the town was brilliantly lighted, for it was night, and well lined with moving picture shows and into these shows poured a steady stream of people, mostly young.

"It is marvelous how popular these moving pictures are," said one. "But think," replied another. "These pictures are the only avenues many have to get away from the drab monotony of their existence. These people work hard all day at some colorless occupation, and they can't spare more than five or ten cents, sometimes not even that, for pleasure. There are plenty of working girls who really can't afford a cent for pleasure. These 'movies' give them brightness and laughter and a vista of some other kind of life for little money. Think of working all day in a dingy factory or as stock-girl in a store, and going home to a poor supper in a meagrely furnished room, and to bed on a very hard bed with not many covers, and up in the morning and once more to work. And that's the way hundreds of girls live. Do you wonder they go to the movies? It is a good thing there are movies to go to."

The next night at another large city the same stream of young people were noted pouring into the moving picture shows. The shows engulphed them as a whirlpool sucks in everything on the current.

But the third day, on a drive through a large town, a municipal dance house was pointed out. It was a pretty place on the shore of a little lake in one of the city parks. "A three-cent admission is charged," said the driver. "It was necessary to charge a little something, but that isn't much. And the place is very nice. And you ought to see the young folks having a good time there."

Here is a city that is tackling this problem of amusing its young people; and here is a problem for all women interested in the welfare of those about them to join in trying to solve.

Moving picture shows are not so bad as some other places to which young people go, but that in some instances they might be bettered, we all know. But the crowds that pour into them show conclusively that the people want some kind of inexpensive amusement. And, if must be said, they do not want it tagged, as charitable or religious. They prefer it clean and wholesome, but it must be simon-pure amusement without any strings to it.

The municipal dance halls which are now to be found in many cities are a step forward in amusements. And we should be willing to look upon this question of amusement in a progressive spirit. Our Puritan inheritance in regard to amusement is to concede it rather grudgingly. But young people must have amusement, especially those who spend their lives at monotonous tasks. It will help them to be content with their work, to go to it in the morning with relish, to do it better. And the thinking women of the country should put their heads together and devise ways to furnish amusement of the right kind, in the right environment. The crowds that pour into cheap places of entertainment point to the need. How can we meet it in a way that will be helpful and not debasing?

It is a big question. For the wrong amusements lead to all sorts of social evils for which, in the end, we all pay. And the right amusements will bring an uplift all along the line.

Barbara Boyd

A WOMAN'S OBSERVATIONS

Edna K. Woolley

her eyebrows, piled on a lot of extra hair, donned a gown that showed as much of her skin as she believed the police would stand for, with a skirt so tight that it showed the undulation of every muscle when she moved. She borrowed a dashing hat from an actress friend, also a pair of long earrings that made her look perfectly lavish, and finished with a dash of some powdered perfume.

"I want to be a credit to you," she explained, in response to her husband's surprised stare when he beheld the vision.

He looked a trifle dubious, but helped her into a taxi and they bowed merrily along to stop at the brilliant door of a downtown grill-room.

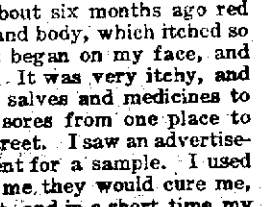

Seated at a table, Mrs. Blank brightly remarked, in high tones, which carried across several tables: "My, but I'm dry! What'll we have, Billy?"

"An egg lemonade for you and a gin fizz for me," firmly announced Mr. Blank.

"Very well sir," said the waiter. But Mrs. Blank interrupted. "I should say not!" she exclaimed, in the same gay high tones. "Nothing short of whisky straight goes with me, Billy. Bring me a bottle of it, waiter."

The waiter departed and Mr. Blank glared upon his spouse.

"What do YOU know about whisky straight?" he hissed. "You'll be drunk in five minutes."

"Red blotches all over face itched so I could not sleep"

NEW YORK, N. Y., July 23, 1912.—"About six months ago red blotches appeared all over my face and body, which itched so I could not sleep. The trouble first began on my face, and then on my arms, and on parts of my body. It was very itchy, and burning, especially at night. I tried many salves and medicines to clear my blood, but they only drove the sores from one place to another. I was ashamed to go out in the street. I saw an advertisement for Resinol Soap and Ointment, and sent for a sample. I used them and they helped me enough to assure me they would cure me, so I bought some Resinol Soap and Ointment, and in a short time my face and body were again clear and cured." Doctor said to use Resinol

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 3, 1912.—"I had a terrible pimple rash break out on my face, and very sore and itchy and awful in appearance. My doctor told me to use Resinol Soap and Ointment, which I did, and with more than success. The results were wonderful, and I was completely cured in three weeks." (Signed) Mrs. C. "Who cares?" laughed the lady opposite him. "Now I am going to have whisky, and I mean to get it. Say that's a handsome man over there. Introduce him, Billy. I saw him nod to you."

"I will like to," agreed Billy, without budging. "Here's your whisky straight coming, and don't you dare touch it." ***

But she did. She took what the waiter poured into the glass, and she took it in one

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

ONE OF those very kind reader friends who do me the compliment of thinking I know about ten times as much as I really do, asks me to express my opinion and prescribe a cure for seven or eight kinds of erring husbands.

The last kind mentioned is "a husband who speaks sharply to his wife without occasion and ridicules her opinions."

My dear friend, if you think I am a sane and sensible woman, you must already know my opinion of that kind of a man. And as to the matter of a cure for him—well if I knew such a precious secret, I am afraid I should be tempted to make my everlasting fortune by forming a corporation to sell it.

If a census could be taken of husbands who think they love their wives and yet never hesitate to humiliate and wound them, I suspect that every town would yield its hundreds and every city its thousands and tens of thousands.

Now there are undoubtedly very few of these men who would not be horrified at the thought of being capable of inflicting physical pain on their wives.

They would probably knock a man down if he suggested to them that such a thing was possible. And yet I know that the heart of every woman who has a husband like this will give me a speedy affirmative when I ask if the mental pain and humiliation which she suffers from being constantly rebuked and ridiculed is not quite as keen as physical pain.

A woman cannot help wanting to have her opinion received with some respect and her foolish little mistakes overlooked, even if she is a wife. And mind you, when I speak of ridicule I don't mean the tender raillery that is half kindly jest and half pride, I mean the unsympathetic ridicule that brings a lump to the throat and makes the heart sore.

Now I know that some of the men I am accusing would defend themselves by saying, "But if you could only hear the utterly foolish things my wife says."

That will be some justification, prisoner at the bar, on one condition. Would these same things arouse your derision if some pretty young stranger said them? Or would you listen as deferentially as if the pretty young thing were dropping pearls and diamonds of wisdom from her lovely lips?

No, prisoner at the bar, that won't let you off. Your wife said just as foolish things before you married her and you didn't find it necessary to be rude and disagreeable to her then.

Please consider yourself, insofar as the district attorney can accomplish it, proven guilty of a cruelty that is just as cruel and just as hard to bear as physical cruelty.

What is the penalty? That you go at once and tell your wife that you are thoroughly penitent for being so thoughtless and that you are going to turn over a new leaf.

HOUSEHOLD TALKS

and art, we have before us the most wonderful collection of appetizing foods that is part forming into a distinct school of American cookery that places us in an enviable position before those countries who have contributed so much to our success. Dishes that are distinctively American, are finding their places abroad; some of them are appreciated here, as they should be. Direction for making our own foods in perfection deserve the ambitious cook's full attention.

New Englanders of the present day are spare and somewhat lanky; among us are some who say they are slab-sided and that the good-provender so bounteously furnished in Yankee-land does not seem to nourish them as it did their ancestors, whose portly portraits show no angle.

These dyspeptic Yankees reflect upon our national food and cooking, for we have the best of the whole world's food, gradually forming into a distinct American cuisine.

From the French we have appropriated many high-sounding names that make our legs of lamb and mutton, or loin of pork and apple sauce taste far better than if they appeared on the menu in English. And from the French, too, we have learned to call our despised warmed-over foods "rechauffe," and to practice economy by using them. There is no question but that the time is coming when of necessity we will be forced to practice this lesson.

The Germans are placing a dominant note in our school of cookery; the women of this race are practical housewives and have no scruples about doing their own marketing and cooking their own food. An American woman would think a day spent marketing and cooking a day wasted, but the hausfrau puts family welfare above every other duty.

The German breakfast of hot rolls and coffee is the acme of simplicity, but the midday dinner contains meat, several vegetables and dessert. In the middle of the afternoon coffee and cakes are served, and this makes a light supper desirable. The German cakes, tarts and sweets of all kinds that are now served in our baker shops and in our newer hotels on cooking commend themselves to our tastes and form a part of our national food.

Weinerwurst, liverwurst, and simple sausages that German women make in their home kitchens are such common articles of commerce in American markets that we forget they are German delicacies.

German economy is thrift without niggardiness; they make the most of their food and teach their daughters the real spirit of home-making. Like the mothers' found in Miss Whitney's "Barbara" and in Miss Alcott's stories, they sweep and dust and work their way through whole chapters of life, "content" to make things pleasant in one little place."

The Italians lack executiveiveness. This makes work difficult for them, and they accomplish less than the Germans, but they are fastidious about their foods, and we are indebted to them for many fine and new flavors and methods that add much to otherwise plain dishes. Peppers, olives, cheeses, tomatoes, mushrooms and splendid combinations of meat and grains and oils help us to a wholesome variety at little cost.

Because Americans are very clever and combine ingenuity with thrift gulp, though it nearly strangled her and she reached a trembling hand for the water.

"We're going home," said Blank. "We're not. I'm having too good a time," said Mrs. Blank. Whereupon she tipped back her chair and planted two dainty feet on the edge of the table. "We'll not go home till morning," she announced. "Tra, la la."

But she did, for Blank took her by the arm and hustled her into a taxi, and for two subsequent hours he spoke unkindly and profanely to his maudlin wife.

But, as I said, she knew her man. The cure was complete, though drastic. He never again invited her to be a good sport, and his grillroom associates have missed him in accustomed haunts ever since.

The KITCHEN CABINET

I HAVE tried all sorts of happiness, and it never lasts," said a spoiled, petulant, cynical woman. "Did you ever try forgetting yourself for six months?" said a shrewd listener. The question went to the heart of the trouble; when self comes to the door, happiness flies out of the window.

HELPFUL SUGGESTIONS.

For those who must provide for the winter supply of eggs, it is wise to preserve them when the price is reasonable. If eggs are packed as late as September or October, a pint of water glass to twelve or fifteen gallons of water will be a safe preservative. The water glass is a thick transparent liquid which is added to the boiled water and allowed to cool before putting in the eggs.

Another simple and easy solution to prepare is lime water and salt. A pint of slaked lime, a pint of salt and three gallons of water. The lime will make the water a creamy consistency.

Something New in Potato Pancakes.—Sift together a cup of flour, a teaspoonful of baking powder, a half teaspoon of salt and a scant cup of milk, a yolk of egg well beaten. Mix all together and fold in the whites of the egg. Grate a layer of cold cooked potato over the griddle, then pour over the mixture and bake until brown, turning and browning on the other side.

Streusel Apple Cake.—Add a cup of sugar to a tablespoonful each of lard and butter, break an egg into a cup and fill it with milk; add two cups of flour sifted with two tablespoonfuls of baking powder. Cover the cake with eightths of apple and sprinkle with two-thirds of a cup of sugar mixed with half a cup of flour and two tablespoonfuls of butter.

Kidney Bean Salad.—Combine a cup of cooked kidney beans with a cup of tender cabbage, shredded; add one sweet green pepper chopped fine and cover with French dressing.

An unusual combination for a salad is a slice of Bermuda onion and a slice of orange served with French dressing.

Help and Be Happy. Happiness is not a task. It is not even an occupation. It is a quality of life. Happiness depends on helpfulness. That's the reason joy is social. Helpfulness keeps happiness because it adds to the area of affection. People are not happy when they seek after happiness. They become steeped in happiness when they undertake to promote the joy of others.—Walter Williams.

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS

MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) I am 26 years, and am going with a girl of 19. Is she too young for me? (2) How can I tell if she loves me? (3) What is good for sore eyes? ED.

(1) No. (2) Ask her. (3) See an oculist.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl of 15, not very tall and wear my dress rather short. I am bowlegged. Can you give me a remedy? FLORA.

Only a surgeon can straighten bowlegs at your age.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been going with a young man for a short time and he seemed to care for me quite a bit. One day I felt like having some fun, so I wrote him telling him

I didn't want to go with him any more and he could get some other girl. I wanted to see what he would do. I haven't seen him since. I am sorry now I did it and want to make up with him, but don't care to apologize. What shall I do? AN UNHAPPY GIRL.

Tell him the truth and apologize, of course. What did you expect, when you deliberately set out to hurt his feelings? Any self-respecting man would have taken you at your word.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: My hair is

The Gold Dust Twins' Philosophy

If you have ever fumed and fussed, because of dirt and grime and rust, and said unto yourself, "Oh, dear! This household work will kill, I fear"—then it is time that you should find some other method far more kind.

Of all the woes a housewife bears, one always fills her day with cares: The kitchen after-meal-time mess, is quite enough to make one fuss. What, with the pots and pails and pans, the knives and forks and plates and cans, no task of man, however grim, the half as mean is handed him.

Two little willing workers aim to enter in this household game: their job, the lessening of work, a task that neither of them shrink. With active little hands and brains they grab the irksome household reins, till soon each kettle, pot or dish, is just as bright as you could wish. And not until the chores are done, from sink to silver, sun to sun, could anything inspire the two, to drop the tasks they have to do.

Therefore, if you have never known, assistance such as we have shown, your troubles end, where joy begins. Now, Mrs. Drudge, the Gold Dust Twins! Henceforth, as dishes congregate, and dingy pots that cannot wait; when cutlery, in sad array, awaits you at the close of day—"Cheer Up!" Forget the labor planned: You have two aids at your command.

covered with little white eggs. Please advise me. (1) How should I use sulphur and molasses? (2) My cheeks have sunken in. What can I do for them? (3) Is there anything better than cocoa butter to develop the bust? AN ORPHAN.

(1) A teaspoon of sulphur to two teaspoonfuls of molasses is the dose each day for three days, stop three days, then resume, and so on. It is supposed to clear complexion, but one must be careful not to catch cold or get the feet wet. (2) Massage your cheeks with a good skin food and eat a lot of good nourishing food. Eat five meals a day if you want to. (3) Cocoa butter will not do any good. Tone up your whole system, breathe deep, and do some scrubbing and sweeping if you want a good bust.

Dear Mrs. Thompson—I have a wife and two children and am in love with my stenographer. I find that I love her more each day. Shall I leave this place with my family or get a divorce and marry the young lady? MISERABLE.

My advice is: Be a man! You voluntarily married your wife and brought two helpless little children into the world. You undertook to care for them in every way and the only thing a decent man can do is to act up to your given word.

Send your stenographer away. She isn't worth the little finger of your wife or one hair from your baby's head.

POISON IN GREEN POTATO SKIN.

Potatoes that have been exposed to the sun above the ground develop a green substance containing solanine, a poison. A small percentage of this may be contained in the skin, so that a potato with a green spot should not be eaten, and the skin of potatoes should not be eaten. There is no element of nutrition in the potato which can not be obtained better from bread or rice or milk, and the idea that potatoes are necessary as a part of a substantial meal is evidently wrong, for no better mental or physical work has been done since the potato was introduced into England by Sir Walter Raleigh. The potato is alkaline and is beneficial in neutralizing acids. Baked potato can often be eaten in acid conditions of the stomach when other starch foods or sugar fruits would not agree.

Pimples? Well Don't Be!

People Notice It. Drive Them off With Olive Tablets.

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The pimples will vanish after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Nothing ever cleansed the blood, the bowels and the liver like Olive Tablets.

Olive Tablets are the only successful substitute for calomel—they oil the bowels; there's never any sickness or pain after taking them.

Olive Tablets do all that calomel does and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are made of pure vegetable compounds mixed with olive oil.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints, and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result.

Try them. Take one nightly for a week. Then look at yourself in the glass and see how you feel. 10c and 25c per box.

The Chronicles of Addington Peace

"In three days—on Saturday, that is—the election takes place. This morning he received a letter similar to the first, save that the demand was for a hundred pounds. He had just sense enough to see that, if he allowed himself to be blackmailed again, it would merely encourage further attempt at extortion. So when he arrived in town, he took a cab to Scotland Yard. I heard his story and caught the next train down to Brendon. I did not call at the house, but gathered a few details concerning him and his family. In all particulars he seems to have spoken the truth."

"Must the hundred pounds be placed in the summer house tonight?"

"No. The blackmailer gave him a day to collect the money. It must be in the locker tomorrow night by eleven o'clock."

"Which means that you will watch the place and pull out the fish as he takes the bait. It seems simple enough, anyhow."

"Oh, yes," he said. "But it is the faulty sense of proportion in Conan which provides the interest in the case. Even at the time the scandal was no very serious matter. What must be his frame of mind that it should terrorize him after all these years?"

When I left him half an hour later it was with the promise that I should have first news of the comedy's conclusion—for a tragedy it certainly was not, save for the blackmailer, if Peace should catch him.

The following afternoon I was sitting in my study with the cigarette that comes so pleasantly after tea and buttered toast—between my lips, when my servant, Jacob Hendry, thrust in his head to announce visitors. They came hard upon his heels—a long, gray-whiskered man in the lead, and the inspector trotting behind. As they cleared the door the little detective twisted round his companion and waved an introductory hand.

"This is Mr. James Coran," he said. "We want your assistance, Mr. Phillips."

The long man stood staring at me and screwing his hands together in evident agitation. He had a hollow, melancholy face, a weak mouth, and eyes of an indecisive gray. From his square-toed shoes to the bald patch on the top of his head he was extremely, almost flagrantly, respectable.

"I am taking a great liberty, sir," he said humbly, "but you are, as it were, a straw to one who is sinking beneath the waters of affliction. Do you, by chance, know the town of Brendon?"

"I have never been so fortunate as to visit it," I told him.

"I understand from the police office here that you have traveled abroad. Accustomed, therefore, to the corruption that taints the municipal life of other cities, you can scarcely comprehend the whole-souled enthusiasm with which we of Brendon approach the duties, may I say the sacred trust, of administering to the sanitary and moral welfare of our county. Those whom we select must be of unstained reputation. From a place on the sports committee of the flower show I myself have risen through successive grades until even the houses of parliament seemed within the limit of legitimate ambition. But now, sir, now it seems that through a boyish indiscretion when a student at the Regent's street polytechnic, I may be denounced in my advancing years as a roysterer, a tippler, almost a convicted criminal. They would not hesitate. Mark my words, sir, if Horledge and Pantom—my opponent's chief supporters in Saturday's election—are informed of these facts, they will mention them on platforms, they may even display them on hoardings."

He paused, sighed deeply, and wiped his face with a large silk pocket handkerchief. The situation was ridiculous enough, yet not without a certain pathos underlying the humor, for the man was sincerely earnest.

"If I can help you, Mr. Coran, I am at your disposal," I told him.

"It is a matter of considerable delicacy," he said. "My younger daughter, Emily, has formed an attachment which is most disagreeable to me."

"Indeed," I murmured.

"The young man, Thomas Appleton by name, is of more than doubtful character. Miss Rebecca, my sister, has seen him boating on the Thames in the company of ladies whose appearance was—er—distinctly theatrical."

"You surprise me."

"He has been known to visit music halls."

"Did Miss Rebecca see him there, too?"

"Certainly not, sir, but she has it from a sure source. It was obviously my duty to forbid him the house. I performed that duty, and extorted a promise from my daughter that she would cease to communicate with him. In my belief, it is he who has discovered the scandal to which I need not again refer, and in revenge is levying this blackmail. The law shall strike him, if there is justice left in England."

"And where do I come in?" I asked, for he had paused in a flurry of indignation.

"Perhaps I had better explain," Peace interposed. "Owing to this unfortunate love affair, it is plain that no member of Mr. Coran's family must learn that this young man is suspected or that steps are being taken for his arrest. It would not be unreasonable to fear that he might be warned; I am staying with Mr. Coran tonight, but I do not want to go alone. I might take an assistant from the Yard, but it is hard to pick a man who has not criminal investigation department stamped upon him. You look innocent enough, Mr. Phillips. Will you come with us, and lend me a hand?"

I agreed at once. It could not fail to be an amusing adventure. After some discussion, it was arranged that Peace and I should be introduced as business friends of Mr. Coran, who had asked us down to Brendon on a sudden invitation. A telegram was sent off to that effect.

For the first fifteen minutes of the train we shared a crowded compartment. Gradually, however, our companions dropped away until we were left to ourselves. Mr. Coran was in evident hesitation of mind. He shifted about, screwing his hands together with a most doleful countenance. When he commenced to speak he leant forward as if afraid that the very cushions might overhear him.

"I have mentioned my sister Rebecca," he said. "She is a woman of remarkable character."

"Indeed," I murmured, for he chose to address me more directly.

"We have differed lately on several points of—er—local interest. It is very important that she should not learn the cause of my appeal to the police. Anything that aroused her suspicions might lead to consequences very disagreeable to myself."

"I will be discreet."

"My daughters will—er—benefit largely under her will. She would cut them out of it without hesitation if she learnt that their father had been connected with so—er—disgraceful a scandal. You understand the situation?"

"Perfectly. It must render your position additionally unpleasant."

He sighed and relapsed into a melancholy silence, in which the train drew up at Brendon station. A cab was in waiting, into which we climbed. A couple of turns, a short descent, and we drew up at a gate in a long wall of flaming brick.

As we walked up the drive I looked carefully about me. The house was also of red brick and of mixed architecture. I believe the architect had intended it for the Tudor period, with variations suggested by modern sanitary requirements. The garden before the windows was of considerable size, with laurels and quick-growing shrubs lining the edge of a lawn and several winding walks. At the farther end a thatched roof, rising amongst the young trees, showed the position of the summer house which played so important a part in the story we had heard.

It was striking six as we entered the hall. Our host led us straight to our rooms on the first floor. We had been told not to bring dress clothes, so that ten minutes later we were ready to descend to the drawing room.

Mr. Coran's daughters, a pair of pretty, bright-faced girls, were seated in those careless attitudes which denote the expected appearance of strangers. Miss Rebecca, a tall, spectacled female, whose sixty years had changed curves for acute angles, reposed in the window, reading a volume of majestic size. She laid it down with a thump, removed her glasses and received us with great modesty and decorum. The inspector and a fox terrier, that set up a barking as we entered, were the only members of the party that seemed natural and at ease.

I found the dinner pass pleasantly enough, despite the gloom that radiated from the brother and sister.

Emily, the victim of the "unfortunate attachment," quite captured my fancy, though I am not a ladies' man. Twice we dared to laugh, though the reproving eyes of the elders were constantly upon us. In the intervals of my talk with her, I obtained the keenest enjoyment from listening to the conversation of Peace and Miss Rebecca. The lady cross-examined him very much as if he were a prisoner accused of various grave and monstrous offenses. Upon the question of antivivisection she was especially urgent.

"My brother refuses the movement of his support," she said in a loud, firm voice. "My reply to him is torturer, inquisitor. What are your views on the subject?"

"The same, my dear madam, as your own," said the disgraced little hypocrite. "How does the cause progress in Brendon?"

"I trust that in a few weeks our local branch will have been placed on such a basis as to be a model to the whole society."

"Aunt is rather a crank on antivivisection," whispered Miss Emily in my ear. "Do be careful, if she tackles you about it."

I laughed, and the subject changed between us.

After the ladies left, Coran began a gloomy autobiography. His family, he said, had been living in the north of England at the time of the London escape. No account of the affair, which appeared in only one paper, had reached them. He had left for Sheffield shortly afterwards, and it was not until ten years later that the death of his father had given him a couple of thousand pounds, with which he bought a share in his present business, which had greatly prospered.

Concerning Thomas Appleton, the young man whom he suspected, he spoke most bitterly. He was, indeed, in the middle of his denunciations when Peace slipped from his chair and moved softly to the window.

With a swift jerk he drew the blind aside and stared out. From where I sat I could see an empty stretch of lawn with shrubs beyond showing darkly in the summer twilight.

"A lovely evening," he said over his shoulder.

We both watched him in surprise as he dropped the blind and walked back to his seat, stopping on his way to pat the terrier that lay on a mat by the window.

"Is there anything the matter?" asked Coran.

"If we are to keep our business here a secret you must not talk too loud—that is all."

The Letter of the Law.

A mother led her six children to the apple-tree. It had borne but a single apple—no longer visible to the casual observer. "I told you not to pick that apple!" she said, sternly. "We didn't pick it!" the children answered in chorus. And the oldest girl added, in an injured tone, "You can see yourself that it's still on the tree. I—I mean—the core is! We only climbed up an—an' took a bite once in a while—we didn't pick it!"

Who Said Corns? I Use "GETS-IT"

It Works On a Sure, New Plan.

"Glory! Come and See How GETS-IT WORKS!"

"GETS-IT" the new corn cure on a new principle, works like the touch of a fairy's wand. No more knives, razors, files or other instruments of torture for corns and bunions. No more salves, plasters and bandages that hurt the rest of the toe more than they relieve the corn. It cures the true flesh raw. It is safe as water. But my boy it does get after corns, bunions, callouses and warts. It works painlessly, but it shrivels 'em right up till they drop off, leaving the firm, healthy flesh underneath. "GETS-IT" is guaranteed to give satisfaction, or your money is refunded.

All druggists sell "GETS-IT" at 25 cents a bottle, or it will be sent on receipt of price by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago.

PIN CUSHION COVER IN PUNCHED WORK.

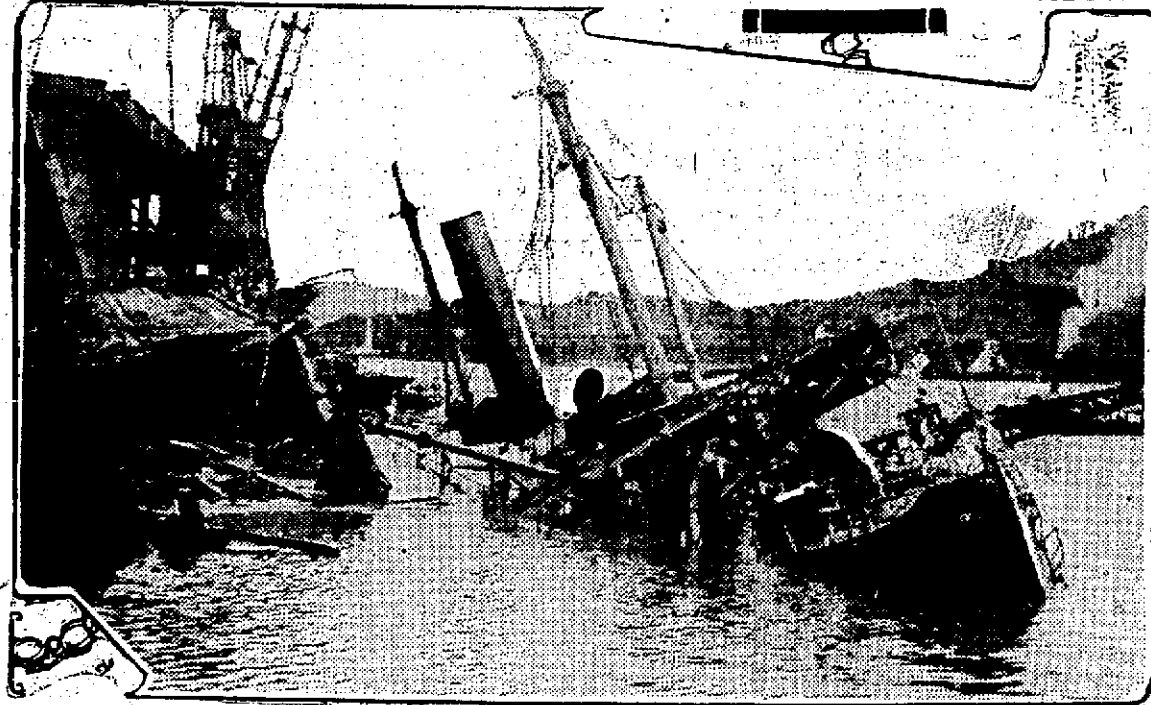

A very attractive pin cushion is made of the solid embroidery combined with the punched work. The flowers and leaves are worked solid, with the dots as eyelets. The scallops are first padded and then closely buttonholed. The back is made exactly like the front, with the central figure omitted. For the punched work use a very large needle. Select a corner of the pattern, pierce the material at the first dot of the second row of dots from the upper left-hand corner of the pattern. Fasten the thread at the back, then draw through and pass down through the first dot of the first row, bring the needle up in the first dot of the second row, send it down again in the first row and bring it up in the second dot of the second row, then send it down in the second dot of the first row and bring it up in the second dot of the second row. Send it down on the second dot of the first row, and bring it up on the third dot of the second row. When you have finished the work in one direction turn and repeat the same at right angles. Lace the cushion together with ribbon.

Use mercerized cotton No. 50 for the punched work, and No. 25 for the other embroidery.

WHARF COLLAPSES AT PANAMA AND STEAMER MOORED ALONGSIDE SINKS; COMMITTEE IS INVESTIGATING CAUSE OF THE ACCIDENT

Steamship sunk by collapse of wharf at Panama.

Photographs have reached this country showing the results of a recent accident, which occurred on the 17th, and the steamship Newport, moored alongside, sank. No one was killed or injured. The vessel was loaded with about 1,500 tons of general cargo, consigned for the most part to ports of Central America and Mexico, and was due to sail during the afternoon of the 19th. A committee is investigating the cause of the accident.

Is Anxious to Meet Him.

The vicar of a Kew (England) church is advertising for the person who has been in the habit of placing in the offertory bag an envelope containing a dirty and somewhat greasy halfpenny stamp, so that he may be able to exchange the stamps for current coin of the realm, and have the opportunity of making the acquaintance of a most interesting parishioner.

To Cure the Blues.

The quickest way to cure "blues" is to identify them. If you look a little and discover that your woe has no reasonable cause, and that you "just feel like feeling so," you know that the condition is physical. That knowledge puts you on the road to recovery, for the physical condition begins to improve as soon as you find there is nothing worse the matter.—Woman's Home Companion.

Will Use Electricity.

It is thought that electric lights will ultimately take the place of all others in lighthouses. The difficulties in the way are being gradually overcome.

The Catskill Mountains

is the title of a beautifully illustrated book which has been published by one of our eastern railway companies and is in the hands of the GAZETTE TRAVEL BUREAU for distribution. These mountains, made famous by Washington Irving in his tales of the Legend of Sleepy Hollow and Rip Van Winkle, are declared by many travelers to be the most picturesque mountain region on the globe, and the person who has never had the pleasure of a trip to the haunts of Rip Van Winkle will be filled with a desire to make a trip eastward which will include a sight seeing tour, if not a sojourn at some of the delightful points described in this book.

From the origin of the name Catskill and primeval history of the mountains, to the description of the hotels and resorts in the mountains, which civilization has built for the convenience and recreation of man, all is given in this book in a way that absorbs the reader's attention.

BRANCH OFFICE FOR GAZETTE AT BAKER & SON.

For the convenience of its patrons and the public generally, The Gazette has opened a branch office with the J. P. Baker & Son, Drug Store, corner West Milwaukee and Franklin streets.

Copy for classified advertisements, orders for papers, subscriptions and matters of this nature, as well as items of news may be left at the Baker Drug store, and will receive the same prompt attention as if they were sent direct to the office.

Either telephone line, number 10, will reach the Baker Drug Store if it is desired to call them in connection with The Gazette's business.

TWELVE NEW STAMPS FOR PARCELS POST

To Be Placed On Sale in Post Offices On January 1 When System Is Inaugurated.

Twelve new stamps will be placed on sale in the post offices on January 1 when the new parcels post law becomes operative. These stamps will be larger than the ordinary postage stamps and will be affixed to the packages mailed.

The twelve stamps will be issued in three series of designs. In the first series modern methods of transporting mail will be illustrated. Postal employees will be shown at work in the second series. The third series will represent four industrial zones, showing the principal sources of products that will be transported most extensively by parcels post.

BEGIN IMPROVEMENT OF JOHNSTOWN ROAD

Men and Teams Working Under Contractor Finley Yesterday Started Graveling Middle Road.

Men and teams working under Contractor Finley yesterday began work on the improvement of the Johnstown road, known as the Middle road. Operations were commenced at Lamb's Corner and for four miles east to Clark's Corner a first class gravel highway will be constructed. The road will be built with state and county aid.

Contractor William Hughes of this city last week finished building three miles of gravelled turnpike in the town of Harmony. Part of it was on the Milton road and part on the Middle road. Mr. Hughes has now started building another state aid road in the town of Fulton.

Two other state and county aid roads on which work has been commenced are the Edgerton and Madison roads in the town of Janesville beginning at the city limits.

STOMACH STARVERS EAT ANYTHING NOW

No Indigestion, Dyspepsia or Sour, Gassy, Upset Stomach for "Pape's Diapepsin" Users.

Every year regularly more than a million stomach sufferers in the United States, England and Canada take Pape's Diapepsin, and realize not only immediate, but lasting relief.

This harmless preparation will digest anything you eat and overcome a sour, gassy or out-of-order stomach five minutes afterwards.

If your meals don't fit comfortably, or what you eat lies like a lump of lead in your stomach, or if you have heartburn, that is a sign of indigestion.

Get from your Pharmacist a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and take a dose just as soon as you can. There will be no sour risings, no belching of undigested food mixed with acid, no stomach gas or heartburn, fullness or heavy feeling in the stomach, Nausea, Debilitating Headaches, Dizziness or Intestinal griping. This will all go, and, besides, there will be no sour food left over in the stomach to poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapepsin is a certain cure for out-of-order stomach, because it takes hold of your food and digests it just the same as if your stomach wasn't there.

Relief in five minutes from all stomach misery is waiting for you at any drug store.

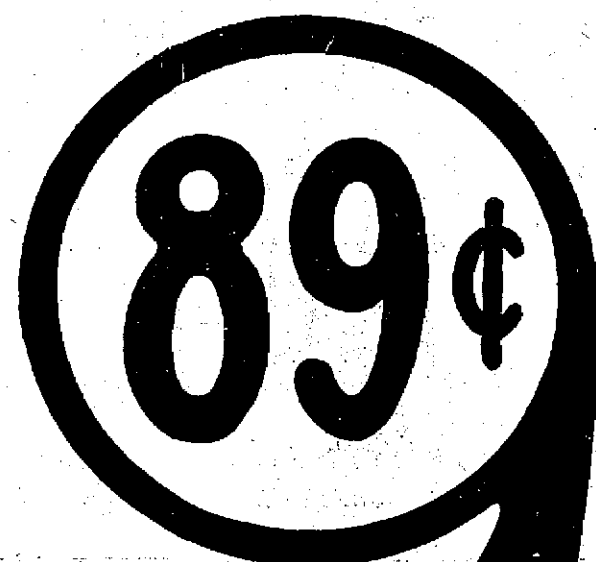

These large 50-cent cases contain more than sufficient to thoroughly cure almost any case of Dyspepsia, Indigestion or any other stomach disorder.

Progress Has Arrived In This Actual Relief for

RHEUMATISM Sciatica and Neuritis

We have held out hope with a lavish hand to the sufferers from rheumatism, sciatica and neuritis in this city, in our announcements printed during the past few days. They have taken us at our word, and the responsibility is ours—welcome, because of the tremendous amount of relief which these few days have already brought to this city.

If you could spend a half day in our store and hear the words of thanks—the homely expressions of gratitude from people who have not been free from pain before for years, you would understand our enthusiasm and our earnest desire that every sufferer within reach should learn of this new prescription, "Nurito."

It is not a patent medicine, and it does not contain the slightest trace of narcotics or opiates. A specialist in New York is responsible for this purely ethical prescription. His brother physicians have taken up the use of it and its fame has extended until it reaches from coast to coast.

"Nurito" has done so much in relieving cases of the longest standing, cases which other remedies have been unable to relieve, completely banishing the uric acid from the system and thus removing the cause of all rheumatic diseases, that it seems too good to be true.

Put it to the test. We will show you proof backed by affidavits—testimonials from people who had despaired of ever being cured. We want those sufferers who have well-nigh given up hope to call, telephone or write us for "Nurito." We give you positive assurance that you will secure complete relief by its use. A $1 box will convince you.

"Nurito"—a clean, legitimate prescription, measures the greatest progress ever made in fighting the terrible suffering of rheumatic diseases. In fairness to yourself, try it. Compounded by Magistral Chemical Co., Platoon Bldg., N. Y.
